EV AND SEMICONDUCTOR FIRMS TO GAIN

China to ease rare earth restrictions

● Wang-Jaishankar meet also took up fertilisers & boring machines imports

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, August 19

IN A POSITIVE turn of events, China has promised to lift the curbs on exports of rare earths, fertilisers and tunnel boring machines to India even as both countries deepen their engagement at the diplomatic level.

The assurance to look at India's needs for these key inputs favourably came at the meeting between external affairs minister S Jaishankar and Chinese foreign minister Wang Yi on Monday evening.

The recent imposition of export restrictions on key rare earth magnets by China has resulted in a supply chain bottleneck, impacting Indian industries including EV manufacturers, minister of state for commerce and industry Jitin Prasada said in the Lok Sabha on Tuesday.

The US-India tariff standoff has led to a sudden "upward trend" in the relations between New Delhi and Beijing. The neighbours are seeking to rebuild the ties which were damaged after the 2020 border clashes in the Galwan Valley.

The development could come in handy for India's sunrise sectors, including electric vehicles and semiconductors. On an immediate basis, it will help address a shortage of key soil nutrients urea and Diammonium Phosphate (DAP) in some parts of the country. China had been intermittently imposing restrictions on exports of these and water- soluble specialty fertilisers to India over the last couple of years.

India remains over 90% dependent on imports for its semiconductor and rare-earth requirements.

Online money games face ban

● Stringent penal provisions included in the draft Bill

OJASVI GUPTA
New Delhi, August 19

THE GOVERNMENT IS likely to impose a blanket ban on all online money-based games. A draft Bill titled 'The Promotion and Regulation of Online Gaming Bill, 2025' seeks to prohibit any person from offering online games involving money in India, failing which they could be imprisoned for up to three years, and penalised ₹1 crore.

Those promoting such platforms, such as social media influencers, may also face jail time of two years and a penalty of ₹50 lakh. The Bill also seeks to prohibit banks and financial institutions from facilitating financial transactions on such platforms.

If approved in its current form, it would be curtains for many in India's online gaming industry, which has seen an exponential growth. Sources in online gaming companies say it would be a huge blow as the industry employs more than 200,000 highly skilled people. Proliferation of illegal platforms/offshore betting would create huge user safety issues, they said.

Capex loan releases to states cross ₹40,000 cr

PRASANTA SAHU
New Delhi, August 19

THE CENTRE'S 50-YEAR interest-free loans for capital expenditure by the states crossed ₹40,000 crore so far in the current financial year, a senior government official said.

The total approvals so far stood around ₹60,000 crore as against the budget estimate of ₹1.5 lakh crore for all states in FY26, the officials said.

The officials expect capital expenditure (capex) loan disbursements to states to reach around ₹75,000 crore by September.

Out of the target of ₹1.5 lakh crore for FY26, the Centre has already issued guidelines and conditionalities for ₹1.4 lakh crore.

The Centre has linked two-thirds of capex loans earmarked for FY26 to governance reforms, including building municipal cadres, finance reforms, such as an integrated property tax portal, and urban land and planning reforms.

Other conditions include achieving own capex growth and undertaking certain urban and rural infrastructure projects.

The Scheme for Special Assistance to States for Capital Investment (SASCI) has evolved from an initial ₹12,000 crore in 2020-21 (during Covid-19) to ₹1,50,000 crore in 2024-25, making the SASCI into a policy lever that incentivises critical reforms across states.

Of the ₹1,49,484 crore capex loans released to the states in FY25, half of that was for reforms or project-linked as outlined in the scheme.

The target for FY26 would also be met, officials said, adding that the states are now well prepared to take advantage of the scheme.

Even though the capex support scheme of the Centre has been running for six years in a row, the Centre, for the first time, allocated ₹6,000 crore as an incentive to states for digital public infrastructure for agriculture, including farmers' registry and digital crop survey.

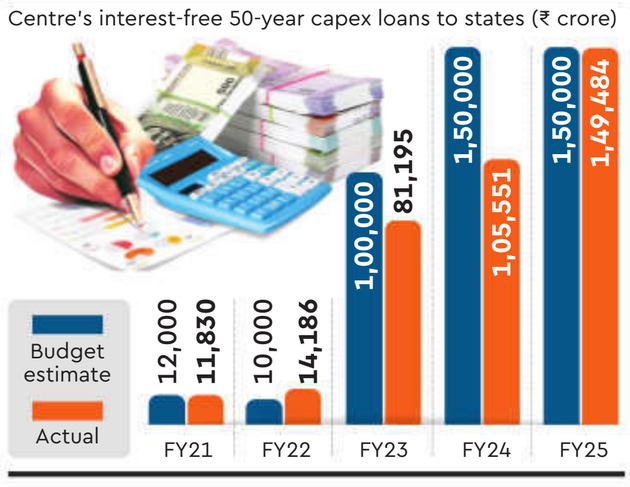

The states would have to adopt digital systems for the development and maintenance of the state's farmers' registry to the state's land record system, and to digitise and standardise the crop enumeration process using the digital crop survey programme.

To encourage efficiency in financial management, an amount of ₹6,000 crore has been allocated to incentivise the states for onboarding 29 centrally sponsored schemes in the SNA SPARSH platform for the 'just-in-time' release of funds mechanism to curb the floating of funds.

The states would also be required to operationalise the Aadhar-based direct benefit transfer (DBT) payment mechanism with the RBI and NPCI under all DBT schemes.

Natural gas import bill declines 9.4% to $4.8 billion in April-July

ARUNIMA BHARADWAJ
New Delhi, August 19

INDIA'S NATURAL GAS import bill fell 9.4% to $4.8 billion during the first four months of FY26, compared with $5.3 billion in the same period of FY25, according to data from the Petroleum Planning and Analysis Cell (PPAC).

The country imported 11,534 million standard cubic meters (mmscm) of liquefied natural gas (LNG) during the period, reflecting a 12.4% decline from April–July FY25.

In July alone, the import bill dropped 20% to $1.2 billion compared with July 2024. Import volumes for the month also fell 20% to 2,946 mmscm from the year-ago period.

During April–July FY26, India's natural gas consumption slipped 7.8% to 23,134 mmscm.

Domestic natural gas production also declined, falling 3% to 11,754 mmscm. State-owned ONGC produced 6,129 mmscm, down from 6,271 mmscm in the same period of FY25. Production remained below target, underscoring the widening gap between demand and supply.

Boosting domestic crude oil and natural gas output has been a key government agenda to reduce import dependence. However, production has largely remained stagnant, keeping import reliance elevated.

Experts attribute the decline to ageing fields operated by ONGC and Oil India. "India's declining domestic oil/gas production has further exacerbated its position as a relatively small oil/gas producer with limited prospects for near-term output growth," Rubix Data Sciences noted in its latest report.

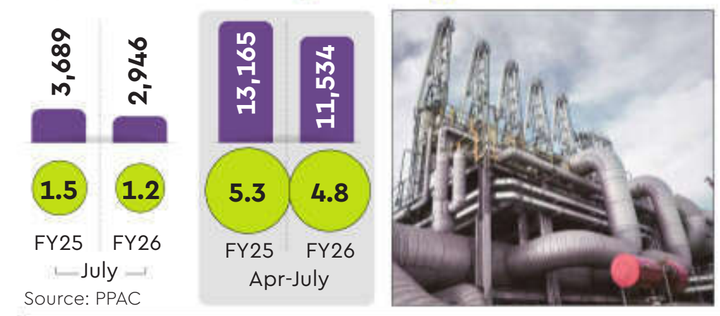

The government has been pursuing upstream oil and gas sector reforms to ease policy uncertainty, clear bottlenecks, and improve risk evaluation. These steps have made India's exploration and production space more attractive to private and global players.

Demand for natural gas is projected to grow by 4-6% in FY26, while domestic output is expected to reach only about 100 mmscmd, said Prashant Vasisht, senior vice president and co-group head, corporate ratings, ICRA. "Thus, the dependence on LNG imports is expected to remain high at 52% of consumption," he noted.

India currently imports about half of its natural gas needs. Qatar supplied 41% of imports in FY25, followed by the US (19%) and the UAE (13%).

India profiteering from Russian oil: Bessent

ARUNIMA BHARADWAJ
New Delhi, August 19

THE US TREASURY secretary Scott Bessent on Tuesday said that India is profiteering from Russian oil and made $16 billion in excess profits.

Bessent noted that China's import of Russian oil is at a suboptimal level while India has significantly increased its purchases of Russian barrels post the invasion of Ukraine.

"China importing is at suboptimal. If you go back to pre 2022, pre invasion (of Ukraine), 13% of China's oil was already coming from Russia. Now, it's 16%, so China has diversified input of their oil. India has less than 1% of their oil coming from Russia (before 2022). And now I believe it's 42%. India is just profiteering, they are reselling.

SCOTT BESSENT,
TREASURY SECRETARY, US

India is just profiteering, they are reselling... they made $16 bn in excess profits – some of the richest families in India

"They made $16 billion in excess profits – some of the richest families in India. So, this is a completely different thing," Bessent said in an interview to CNBC when asked about why the US is being tough on India and not China in regards to tariffs for buying Russian oil.

US President Donald Trump has announced an additional penalty of 25% on India above the 25% tariff already existing for buying Russian oil – a move that could severely disrupt Indian supplies while also resulting in a potential increase in the import bill as the country will lose its access to discounted barrels.

"This is what I would call the Indian arbitrage buying cheaper Russian oil, reselling as a product, has just sprung up during the war which is just unacceptable," Bessent added.

The secretary pointed out that the tariff revenue will be revised up substantially from $300 billion this year, refusing to give a concrete figure.

"We will use tariff revenue to pay down US debt and bring down the deficit to GDP, which at a point, can be used as an offset to US consumers," he said.

Experts say it is unlikely that Indian refiners will voluntarily halt Russian crude imports in the absence of a clear government directive. Russian barrels— particularly Urals — offer a combination of technical compatibility, favourable yield profiles and strong refining margins that make them an attractive feedstock within the current refining slate.

GST 2.0 IMPACT

Reform may let more small units join formal economy

● Easier refunds, compliance & tax credit seen as key benefits

MUKESH JAGOTA
New Delhi, August 19

THE SIMPLIFICATION OF the Goods and Services Tax (GST) regime by reducing the number of tax slabs could help address the problem of input tax credit (ITC) accumulation faced by micro, small and medium enterprises (MSMEs) and improve their liquidity for business operations, experts said.

A simplified rate structure would not only lower taxes on some MSME products — boosting their market competitiveness — but also reduce levies on several inputs, generating positive spillovers for the broader economy.

MSMEs also hope that reforms related to compliance procedures, faster refunds and simplified processes will support small businesses. Several firms that have so far stayed outside the GST chain due to tax burdens may now find it worthwhile to enter the system, thereby broadening the tax base, industry sources noted.

"In order to address the challenges faced by MSMEs, the government should streamline the process of adjudication and assessments to address the procedural issues in processes involving GST registration, refund claims, and addressing queries of MSMEs," said Karthik Mani, Partner–Indirect Tax at BDO India.

Currently, multiple slabs often result in higher taxes on inputs compared to finished products, creating an "inverted duty structure" where accumulated ITC cannot be fully offset against output taxes. Ongoing reforms aimed at correcting this imbalance are expected to ease the problem.

"Currently, the units have to file for a refund of tax credit accumulated due to the inverted duty structure. The refund takes time and there are costs for filing for those refunds. Less number of slabs could address the issue of accumulation of tax credit," said Rajiv Chawla, founder and chairman of the Integrated Association of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises of India.

Experts also flagged compliance burdens, particularly the notices issued to units for transactions going back over five years, as well as the "rigidity" of tax authorities in accommodating business changes. In some cases, firms receive notices seeking reversal of tax credits for past transactions with companies that have since shut down.

The reform process should address such everyday issues, they said. Industry representatives also called for a review of the Input Service Distributor (ISD) mechanism introduced on April 1, which allows head offices to distribute ITC on common services to business units.

For micro enterprises, experts suggested easing registration requirements across states to encourage small sellers to participate on e-commerce platforms. Such measures, they said, would also support government initiatives like One District One Product (ODOP).

Automobile buyers flood dealers with enquiries

● Actual sales fall since August 15

SWARAJ BAGGONKAR
Mumbai, August 19

SENIOR FUNCTIONARIES OF the automotive dealer body will meet the Union ministers concerned on Wednesday to seek clarity on the proposed reduction in Goods and Services Tax (GST) as buyers shun purchases in the hope of a price cut.

Actual automotive purchases have dropped significantly since August 15, though there has been a marked rise in enquiry levels, said dealers. There are expectations of a steep cut in GST following Prime Minister Narendra Modi declaring the need for revamp in the eight-year-old indirect tax.

Small cars and two-wheelers could see the GST drop to 18% from the current 28% while bigger cars could attract a flat 40% tax instead of 43% to 50%, inducing buyers to put their purchases on hold.

CS Vigneshwar, president, Federation of Automobile Dealers Association, said, "The walk-ins and enquiry levels have been very strong across dealerships during the last few days but actual purchases have been notably weak."

"FADA is meeting HD Kumaraswamy (minister of heavy industries and public enterprises) and Piyush Goyal (minister of industry) to seek clarity on how this will be implemented," Vigneshwar added.

Ahead of the festive season which begins in the final week of August, dealers have urged vehicle makers to avoid adding to the stock levels in the wake of the announcement of the GST cut. Dealers of passenger vehicles are sitting on enough stocks which would last them for 55 days or around 600,000 units.

"The old GST rate will have to be reversed on the existing stock if there is a cut in the rates. I am sure the government will take care of it," Vigneshwar added.

A large Maruti Suzuki dealer from the south of the country stated that the GST cut will work to uplift the buyer sentiment more than volumes themselves and that the real jump in sales can be seen only in the January to March quarter.

"As it is with a 10% discount, there is no enthusiasm among car buyers today. So, this is a sentiment drive that the government is creating to induce the buyer," the dealer said while acknowledging a surge in enquiries in the last few days despite a sharp drop in actual purchases.

Consumer durable firms gear up for tough festive season

VIVEAT SUSAN PINTO
Mumbai, August 19

CONSUMER DURABLE FIRMS are seeking clarity from the government over the proposed GST reduction to 18% (from 28%) in air conditioners and flat-panel TVs above 32 inches, industry sources have told FE, ahead of the crucial festive period, which kicks in from next week with regional festivals.

Companies are said to be tapping industry body Consumer Electronics and Appliances Manufacturers Association (CEAMA) for the same, aimed at helping them plan their festive season sale programmes over the next two months as fears of a likely postponement of sales grows if the GST cut goes through during the period.

Consumers, said industry sources, anticipate a lag in GST cuts to be passed on to them in the above-mentioned segments, prompting industry fears of a postponement in sales till the lower-priced inventory lands in stores.

While categories such as washing machines, refrigerators, mobile phones and laptops may continue to be in the 18% tax bracket, some companies expect sluggish sales in these segments too as consumers wait for the likely revised pricing in ACs and large-screen television sets.

"There will likely be a slack in sales in air conditioners and flat-panel TVs above 32 inches because of the GST proposal to reduce rates in these segments from 28% now to 18%. But we hope to cover up in the future," NS Satish, President, Haier Appliances India, said.

Healthcare body seeks 5% tax on key inputs

MANU KAUSHIK
Mumbai, August 19

TAKING CUE FROM the Goods and Services Tax (GST) reforms announced by Prime Minister Narendra Modi recently, healthcare body NATHEALTH has asked for a standardised tax on key healthcare inputs at 5%, instead of the current waiver.

This will allow the healthcare service providers to claim input tax credit. The healthcare services, which include hospitals and diagnostic centres, are currently exempt from GST, but the companies engaged in these businesses still pay GST on the products and services that they use.

However, the healthcare companies are not allowed to take input tax credit which results in higher costs for the end consumers. As part of the ongoing GST reforms, the association has asked the government to put all input slabs into healthcare services like devices, consumables, diagnostics, etc in the 5% or lower slab so that healthcare delivery can be made efficient.

Further, they said that the government must devise a mechanism whereby the industry players can claim input tax credit when output GST is charged. In a statement, NATHEALTH said that despite its scale and importance, the healthcare sector has not fully benefitted from the GST.

GST 2.0: Govt sees revenue loss of ₹60,000 cr annually

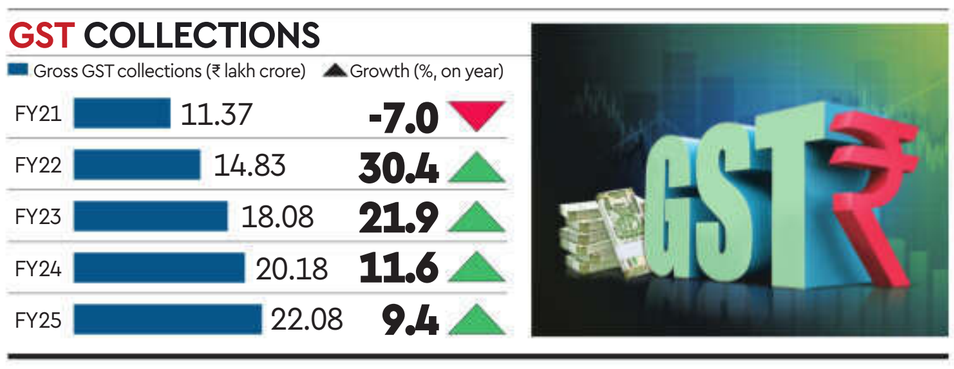

PRASANTA SAHU
New Delhi, August 19

THE CENTRE'S PROPOSAL to have a principally two-tier Goods and Services Tax (GST) structure along with other reforms of the tax may cost ₹ 60,000 crore on an annualised basis to the Centre and states combined, official sources told FE. This estimate of annualised revenue loss is just 2.7% of annual gross GST receipts of ₹ 22.08 lakh crore in FY25.

The estimate is based on the new rates, the products to be brought under each slab, the current revenues from each, as well as the special rate of 40% and the principle that sin goods and services won't get any tax relief as part of the revamp.

However, the sources expect the actual revenue loss to be even lower. The revenue loss will be short-lived, as the rate cut-induced rise in economic activity and improved compliance will mitigate the losses within six months, the sources said. After GST was rolled out from July 2017, there have been tax cuts on hundreds of items, yet the revenues have grown on an annualised basis by over 18% in the four years through FY25. Of course, this was partly due to the low base of initial years, including the Covid period.

The indirect tax rate cut, combined with the income tax cut unveiled in the budget for 2025-26 could catalyse consumption, the sources said.

However, independent experts reckon the revenue loss to be higher.

Acknowledging that many of the details on the new GST rates are not yet known, Pranjul Bhandari, Chief India and Indonesia Economist at HSBC, along with her two colleagues predicted a possible scenario where the cost to the exchequer will be around $16 billion (₹1.43 lakh crore) or 0.4% of the GDP. The revenue loss could be equally split between the central and state governments.

They estimate that as some products are moved to lower tax buckets – from the 12% to the 5% bin, and from the 28% to the 18% bin, a minority may be pushed up from the 12% to 18% or from 28% to 40% too. The lower revenue loss estimate by the government also takes into account the fact that for 99% of items moving from 12% rate to 5%, the input tax credit (ITC) will unlikely be available.

Govt seeks urea imports as kharif demand soars

SANDIP DAS
New Delhi, August 19

AFTER SUPPLY CONSTRAINTS of di-ammonia phosphate (DAP) due to geopolitical factors, a rise in urea consumption due to an increase in sowing of kharif crops has prompted the government to import key soil nutrients at the earliest.

This is expected to boost stocks and improve supplies in the coming rabi season.

Entities such as National Fertilizer and Indian Potash have floated tenders to import 2 million tonne (MT) of urea each, as the stock position of key soil nutrients supplied to farmers at the highly subsidised rate has declined sharply.

Entities such as National Fertilizer and Indian Potash have floated tenders to import 2 million tonne (MT) of urea each

As of August 1, urea stock was 3.7 MT, a sharp decline from 8.6 MT a year ago. With the rise in consumption by 12% during the April-June period, it has put some pressure on urea supplies, with several states, including Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh and others have raising issues of delay in supplies of soil nutrients with the fertiliser ministry.

The fertilizer ministry has stated that against the requirement of 18.53 MT of urea during the entire kharif season, 2025, while the pro-rata requirement between April 1 – August 4, 2025, was 12.44 MT, against which the availability of key soil nutrients was 16.58 MT.

Import duty on cotton suspended till Sept 30

INDIA HAS SUSPENDED the 11% import tariff on raw cotton for 40 days to tackle tight supplies and stabilise prices ahead of the harvest season. The Central Board of Indirect Taxes and Customs scrapped duties on cotton through a notification late Monday. The zero duties will remain effective till September 30.

Cotton imports have surged 107.4% on year in FY24-25 to $1.2 billion. Major suppliers last year included Australia ($258.2 million), the US ($234.1 million), Brazil ($180.8 million), and Egypt ($116.3 million). Almost all (99%) the $1.20 billion cotton imported in FY25 is of fibre staple length of 28 mm or above. Under India-Australia ECTA, India already allows duty free import of 51,000 MT cotton of fibre staple length of 28 mm or above.

This means, the largest beneficiary of the duty-free import will be the US, the second largest supplier to India, founder of GTRI, Ajay Srivastava, said. Since February 2021, imports were subject to an 11% duty—5% basic customs duty and 5% agriculture infrastructure & development cess.

The waiver is expected to help mills facing high input costs and support yarn and fabric exporters struggling with competitiveness, particularly ahead of the festive season, Srivastava added. –FE BUREAU

DESPITE GOVT EFFORTS TO MAKE INDIA A GLOBAL EV MANUFACTURING HUB

Global auto heavyweights tepid on local EV market

SWARAJ BAGGONKAR
Mumbai, August 19

IN THE SLOW LANE

Share of EVs in total auto sales (in %)

Renault, Nissan, Volkswagen, and Skoda are going slow on EV in India and have decided to focus on cars using traditional fuels

Challenges

Slow adoption: Share of EVs in the total auto market is running short of targets

Charging infrastructure: Nearly half of 25,000 public chargers are reportedly non-functional

Low level of localisation: India has to depend on countries like China and South Korea to source battery cells

THE GOVERNMENT IS keen on making India a hub for electric vehicle (EV) manufacturing and offering incentives to attract investments. However, global automotive heavyweights like Renault, Volkswagen, Nissan and Skoda have decided to focus on vehicles using traditional fuels.

They are simply not convinced about the prospects of the local EV market. As Venkatram Mamillapalle, managing director, Renault India, pointed out EV penetration is just 2% of the 4.3 million, with only a handful of players. In fact, the share of EVs in the total auto market is running short of targets.

Moreover, the charging infrastructure remains a work in progress and there are challenges relating to the levels of localisation. "Does this justify investment," Mamillapalle asked, adding that those investing are players who are learning because they are bringing in new technology.

Renault has been showcasing EVs at the biennial Indian Auto Expo since 2018 but is yet to launch one in India. "EV technology is available with me and proven. It is not difficult to get it to India," Mamillapalle said. Renault has refrained from launching electric version of Kwid in India although the ICE version has been around for years.

Czech car brand Skoda wants to re-focus on petrol-powered cars for now. It has put its EV plans on the back burner though it had announced the launch of one of its models in September 2025. Ashish Gupta, brand director, Skoda Auto India, believes the inflexion point for EVs will only come around 2026-27. "That's when manufacturers will have the capability to locally produce cars and also when supply chain issues will be ironed out," he said.

Gupta observed that the earlier forecast of a 30% EV penetration by 2030 might be difficult. "Around 15-18% should be achievable, which itself would be substantial," Gupta added.

Japanese producer Nissan has chosen Thailand over India to manufacture its upcoming electric sports utility vehicle (SUV). On August 1, the company sold its stake in the manufacturing joint venture, Renault Nissan Automotive India, to its French partner Renault as part of its global restructuring exercise.

German automotive giant Volkswagen also does not plan to have a locally manufactured EV in India. The ID.4 electric vehicle, which was supposed to be the first EV from Volkswagen in the country, was to be launched by the end of 2024.

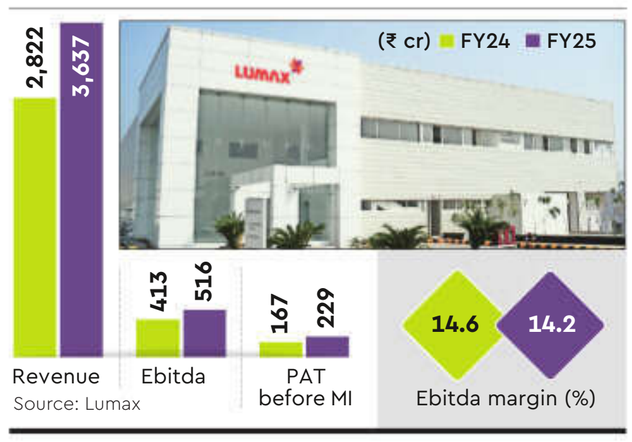

Unlike some of the developed markets, India's public EV charging infrastructure remains underdeveloped. As of February 2024, there were approximately 25,000 public chargers for all vehicles like e2W, e3W, e4W, eBus, in the country, but around 12,100 of them were reportedly non-functional, as per a report by TATA.ev. Also, India has to depend on countries like China and South Korea to source battery cells, exposing it to the vagaries of supply chain uncertainties and the changing geopolitical situation.

Lumax eyes 20-25% growth in FY26: MD

- Clean mobility, strong domestic demand to drive revenue increase

NITIN KUMAR
New Delhi, August 19

HEALTHY EXPANSION

DESPITE GLOBAL TRADE tensions and technological shifts, Lumax Auto Technologies (LATL) is confident of clocking 20-25% growth for the full financial year, outpacing broader industry trends.

The Gurugram-headquartered company posted a 36% year-on-year growth in revenue to ₹1,026 crore in the first quarter of this financial year, exceeding the sector's single-digit expansion.

According to Anmol Jain, managing director, the growth momentum is expected to continue, backed by strong domestic demand and a rising contribution from clean mobility solutions. Jain highlighted the company's increasing focus on clean and future mobility, including components for CNG vehicles, electric vehicles (EVs), and advanced cockpit electronics. Notably, 10% of the first-quarter revenue came from Greenfuel Energy Solutions, a CNG-focused firm acquired to strengthen Lumax's clean-tech portfolio.

"This vertical is growing rapidly. Around 40% of our current order book relates to clean and future mobility. We expect this to double in revenue share over the next 2-3 years," Jain said. Overall, 10-15% of the company's FY26 revenue is expected to come from this segment.

Addressing global concerns, Jain clarified that the US' new tariff regime on auto components will have no direct or indirect impact on Lumax. "We don't export directly to the US, and our revenue is derived entirely from the Indian market," he said. Also, nearly 50% of India's $6.5 billion in auto exports to the US already face the pre-existing 25% duty slab, and many Indian suppliers remain single-source vendors, maintaining their market share despite new tariffs. Jain also reaffirmed Lumax's EV-agnostic product strategy, allowing it to cater to both internal combustion engine (ICE) and electric vehicles. Lumax remains part of the production-linked incentive (PLI) scheme for auto components, having earlier committed ₹250 crore for investments in sensors and ADAS (advanced driver assistance systems) components.

However, Jain noted that plans are being recalibrated in response to evolving OEM strategies. "We won't invest only because a component is part of the PLI list, there has to be a clear market need," he said.

Jio's data pack shift signals focus on value over volume

URVI MALVANIA
Mumbai, August 19

CHANGING DYNAMICS

- Analysts say Jio move underscores telcos' growing pricing power
- Bharti & Vi are likely to follow suit, they say

	Projected incremental Arpu per month (₹)	Projected increase in FY27 Ebitda (₹ cr)
airtel	10-11	1,800-2,000
Jio	11-13	1,900-2,200
Vi	11-13	900-1,100

Source: JM Financial

RELIANCE JIO'S DECISION to phase out its entry-level 1GB daily allowance prepaid packs raises the base for its mobile offerings and signals a focus on value and monetisation over subscriber addition, analysts said. "Given prior trends, it is highly likely that Bharti and VIL will also phase out their 1GB/day plans," analysts at JM Financial noted. Analysts say the move underscores the telcos' growing pricing power.

Analysts at Morgan Stanley said that while discontinuing specific plans may not materially move overall average revenue per user (Arpu) immediately, it reinforces the trend of industry repair and monetisation, with room for future tariff hikes across 4G and 5G offerings. Jio has moved the ₹249, 28-day pack with 1GB daily allowance off its website — it is now available exclusively at physical points of sale. The ₹209, 22-day validity pack with 1GB daily allowance can be accessed only on the MyJio app. Sources said these were losing popularity and will be discontinued. "Per capita data consumption on the Jio network is inching towards 40GB per month, so lower allowance data packs may not remain relevant over time," a telecom expert said.

The Vodafone Idea stock was up 2.01% at ₹6.59 while Airtel's was up 0.88% at ₹1,909.60 on the BSE on Tuesday, a day after the Jio move. Rising use of data makes lower-tier plans increasingly redundant. The narrowing price gap between entry-level and minimum 5G plans could encourage wider 5G adoption.

The immediate financial implication for Jio could be significant. Around 20-25% of Jio's 498 million subscribers were on the affected 1GB/day plan, analysts observed. If these users upgrade to the new 1.5GB/day plan, the company's Arpu could rise by ₹11-13 per month, or 6-7%, potentially lifting consolidated FY27 Ebitda by ₹1,900-2,200 crore, according to analysts at JM Financial. For Bharti Airtel, a similar move could lift Arpu by ₹10-11 per month (4-4.5%) and India wireless Ebitda by roughly ₹1,800-2,000 crore, while Vi could see Arpu gains of ₹13-14 per month (7-8%).

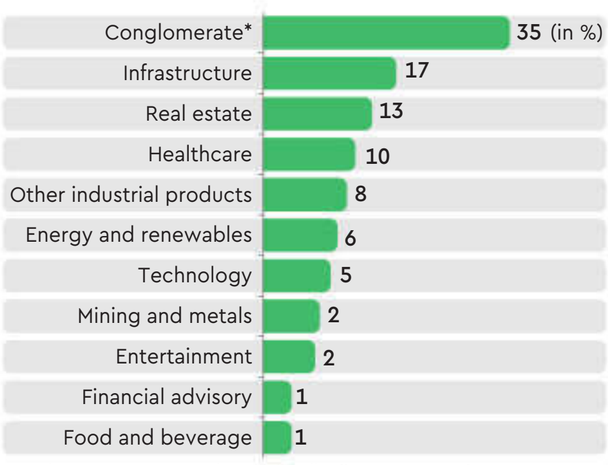

Private credit deals surge as global funds bet big

PRIVATE CREDIT INVESTMENTS in the country rose nearly three times to nearly $9 billion in the first half of 2025 over the second half of 2024. The rise was led by a record-breaking transaction by Porteast Investments (Shapoorji Pallonji Group) worth $3.1 billion — almost as large the total deal value of H2 of 2024, according to EY's latest private credit report. The rise was 53% year-on-year. Global funds remained the dominant players in the private credit market, while domestic funds focused on mid-market & opportunistic deals, EY said.

Potential for upgrade of Reliance's rating: S&P

THERE IS A potential for upside to Reliance Industries provided it operates at lower leverage and strengthens non-energy revenue streams, S&P Global Ratings said on Tuesday.

S&P had last week raised the issuer credit ratings of Reliance as well as companies such as Oil and Natural Gas Corp (ONGC), NTPC and Tata Power to 'BBB' from 'BBB-' following upgrade in India's sovereign rating to 'BBB/A-2' from 'BBB-/A-3' on economic resilience and sustained fiscal consolidation.

"There is a potential for upside in RIL's rating. It is at 'BBB+'... This (rating going up by a notch) would require stand alone credit profile to improve. For this, what we have said we need a continuation of the company to operate at a lower leverage, and will likely need a strengthening on the business side particularly contribution from non-energy revenues because these are less volatile," said Neel Gopalakrishnan, credit analyst, S&P Global Ratings. A combination of these factors could "push the rating up and it is something to watch for the next year or so," he said. —PTI

Logistics companies gear up to meet festive rush, with AI help

- Q-comm forces firms to reorient preparations

S SHANTHI
Bengaluru, August 19

ON DEMAND

- Festive sales are expected to rise 20-40% this season
- Most logistics & supply chain startups are over-hiring riders and operations executives by 20-30%
- Shiprocket has upgraded warehousing infra with AI-driven inventory and demand forecasting systems
- Zippee has opened 45 new dark stores in 13 cities since July to cater to the festive rush
- Allcargo Supply Chain has expanded its team by 30%

LOGISTICS AND SUPPLY chain companies expect a 20-40% increase in festive sales this year, fuelled by pent-up demand. To make the most of it, many players such as Shiprocket, Porter, Hexalog, Zippee, and Shadowfax have enhanced tech capabilities, hired gig workers, and increased the fleet size. Some of them have specifically heightened their focus on Tier 2 and 3 cities that have been outpacing metros in festive e-commerce growth.

Logistics unicorn Shiprocket has upgraded its warehousing infrastructure with AI-driven inventory and demand forecasting systems. On the merchant enablement side, it is rolling out tools like Co-pilot, Shunya.ai, SenseAI, MCP, and RevProtect to help merchants capture festive demand. "This festive season, we anticipate one of the strongest demand surges in recent years, driven by rising consumer confidence & accelerated adoption of online shopping in Bharat," Atul Mehta, CEO, domestic shipping, Shiprocket, said.

Specific measures are being taken to cash in on the quick commerce demand while also continuing to focus on e-commerce delivery and direct deliveries for large enterprises, MSMEs and D2C startups. "Quick commerce is brutal. It's not like 'oh volumes went up a bit.' It literally doubles overnight. If you don't prepare, the system just collapses. At Zippee, we have learnt the hard way that you can't switch this on in October. You start in July. We open more dark stores, even if it hurts short-term margins. A 200 sq. ft. store can move more volume than a supermarket during Diwali week, but only if it exists in the first place," Madhav Kasturia, founder and CEO, Zippee, said. Since July this year, the firm has opened 45 new dark stores in 13 cities to cater to the festive rush. Zippee enables same-day and two-hour deliveries for brands such as Supertails, Clinikally, The Whole Truth, Mondelez, Traya, UltraHuman, and Haldiram's.

Most logistics and supply chain startups are also over-hiring riders and operations executives by 20-30%. "Yes, it's expensive. But if you miss an order of kaju katli during Diwali, that customer is gone forever," Kasturia added. The firm has hired more than 700 store associates and 1,000 gig riders in recent months.

Allcargo Supply Chain has expanded its team by 30%, with over 9,000 blue-collar employees managing operations. The firm claims that it has put in place performance-linked incentives and well-being measures to ensure peak productivity. It has also created a centralised monitoring system to ensure agile and flexible resource deployment to meet sudden demand spikes across multiple locations.

Logistics startups are also making sure they stock efficiently, plan routes, and scale up backend tech to ensure real-time tracking of the process. This, they say, will help them forecast and auto-replenish before shelves go empty. "Delhi wants dry fruits, Bengaluru wants chocolates, Mumbai wants Ferrero. Also, people shop at 2 AM during Navratri and Diwali. So we go 24x7, no debate. Last year, our 1-5 AM orders grew 4x. That's a consumer unlock no supermarket can serve," Kasturia added.

Allcargo, an AI-driven supply chain firm that caters to D2C players such as Urbanic, Savanna, and Frido, is anticipating a significant jump in order volumes, with a target to process and deliver up to 100,000 shipments per day during peak festive weeks. The firm has implemented a detailed festive preparedness plan with hourly productivity checks across fulfilment centres, repositioning high-demand SKUs for faster picking, and strengthening last-mile delivery partnerships to support same-day deliveries in key locations. Utkarsh Tripathi, co-founder and COO, Hexalog, said it is also expanding vendor partnerships to diversify capacity and introducing team motivation programmes to maintain morale and productivity.

Porter has come up with an enterprise offering which is built to help mid-to-large enterprises navigate festive demand spikes, offering centralised visibility, transparent operations, and consolidated billing, especially during unpredictable surges. "From automating bookings through API integrations to managing ad hoc, multi-city movements, it brings agility and control to logistics, ensuring seamless, scalable delivery support throughout the season," Mohit Rathi, vice president, growth, Porter, said.

UltraTech Cement to reach 200 MTPA capacity in FY26

- Dividend of ₹77.50 per equity share proposed

URVI MALVANIA
Mumbai, August 19

ULTRATECH CEMENT IS set to achieve a capacity of 200 million tonne per annum (MTPA) in FY26, making it the largest cement selling company in the world outside of China, chairman Kumar Mangalam Birla said at the firm's 25th annual general meeting on Tuesday.

"With nearly 70% of capital expenditure focused on growth, your company is firmly on track to cross 200 MTPA capacity in FY26—a full year ahead of the original FY27 goal," Birla said while addressing the AGM.

The company's expansion, which includes organic capacity addition and the acquisitions of India Cements and Kesoram Industries, has resulted in a capacity of 192.26 MTPA at the end of June 2025.

UltraTech operates 34 integrated units, 30 grinding units, and 9 bulk terminals, with a network of over 145,000 channel partners covering more than 80% of India. The company has proposed a dividend of ₹77.50 per equity share, totalling ₹2,283.75 crore.

Birla added that UltraTech's growth is closely linked to the broader macroeconomic environment. India, which grew 6.5% in 2024-25, and is expected to maintain the same pace in 2025-26, has benefitted from government capital expenditure, stronger private demand, and a recovering construction sector.

Birla highlighted that infrastructure initiatives such as Gati Shakti, affordable housing schemes, and the Asset Monetisation Plan will support demand for cement, while monetary easing and lower inflation provide a conducive investment climate.

KUMAR MANGALAM BIRLA, CHAIRMAN, ULTRATECH CEMENT

"With nearly 70% of capex focused on growth, we are on track to meet capacity target in FY26 — a full year ahead of the original FY27 goal"

"Our efforts converge towards a singular and purposeful goal, to build a strong, self-reliant, prosperous, and globally competitive India"

Birla framed the company's mission in terms of its contribution to India's growth. "Our vision is closely aligned with India's aspirations for 2047—the centenary of our nation's independence. Our efforts converge towards a singular and purposeful goal, to build a strong, self-reliant, prosperous, and globally competitive India."

He emphasised that UltraTech's work extends beyond physical infrastructure, reflecting a belief in "the transformative power of infrastructure to ignite aspirations, elevate lives, and empower communities to thrive."

On sustainability, UltraTech has made measurable strides. The company has achieved a cumulative renewable energy capacity of 1,371 MW, meeting 46% of its electricity requirements, and reduced net CO_2 emissions to 549 kg per tonne from 632 kg in 2017.

Birla emphasised that these efforts are part of a larger commitment: "To me, they represent a new industrial paradigm built on responsibility, innovation, and resilience." The company is also advancing water stewardship, biodiversity protection, and circular economy initiatives, including a thermal substitution rate of 5.7% and the use of over 44 million tonnes of recycled and alternative raw materials.

Corporate social responsibility (CSR) remains a core focus. In FY25, UltraTech's programs positively impacted over 1.8 million people across 500 villages, encompassing education, healthcare, sustainable livelihoods, and community infrastructure.

"Whether it is supporting schools, building sanitation facilities, delivering health camps, or empowering women-led enterprises, your company stands committed to driving inclusive growth and meaningful societal change," Birla said.

Suzlon looks to export market

RAGHAVENDRA KAMATH
Mumbai, August 19

WIND ENERGY SOLUTIONS company Suzlon Energy is looking to grow exports with a focus on Central Asia and Europe, said sources in the know.

"The company expects to get orders by the end of this year and commence exports within the next 12 months," said one of the persons, adding that talks are on with potential buyers. An email sent to Suzlon did not elicit any response till press time. The firm is merging its subsidiary, Suzlon Global Services, with itself and will not have any separate global entity, the persons said. Its entity in Europe, Suzlon Energy A/S (SEAS), used to supply energy to 11 countries and had a production capacity of over 1.5 GW installed across Europe, Africa and Latin America.

Sudhanshu Bansal Director and lead analyst (power & utilities) at JM Financial, said that though the company has a manufacturing capacity of 4.5 GW, the domestic market is not as large and exports will give it volumes in the long run. "The management has been guiding the export foray for the last two-to-three quarters. They are working in that direction," said Bansal.

Suzlon has 15 manufacturing facilities in India and eight R&D facilities in Germany, India, Denmark and the Netherlands.

RE100 Initiative

Suzlon on Tuesday said it has become the first Indian energy company to join the prestigious RE100 Initiative — a global movement led by Climate Group in partnership with CDP (Carbon Disclosure Project). Suzlon has pledged to use 100% renewable energy by 2030 at all 15 manufacturing facilities.

Hindustan Zinc ready to foray into uranium mining: CEO

NEHA ARORA & SETHURAMAN N R
New Delhi, August 19

HINDUSTAN ZINC WILL aim to expand into uranium mining if the government opens up the sector to private players, its CEO Arun Misra told Reuters on Tuesday.

Government sources told Reuters last week that India wants to allow private companies to mine, import and process uranium as part of plans to end a decades-old state monopoly over the nuclear sector and bring in billions of dollars in investment.

"If new uranium blocks are put out for private companies, Hindustan Zinc will be the first to bid," Misra said in an interview. "We will get into atomic minerals and especially uranium because the country needs it."

The government plans to expand nuclear power production capacity 12-fold by 2047. The state has historically maintained tight control over the sector due to concerns about safety, strategic security and the potential misuse of nuclear materials.

Hindustan Zinc is, meanwhile, also looking to begin mining rare earth minerals in India, having won its first such block in Uttar Pradesh earlier this year.

The country's top refined zinc producer has floated global tenders for firms to explore the potential of the block, where it expects to start extracting neodymium — a rare earth used in magnets for motors and generators — in five to six years, Misra said. Among other critical minerals, Hindustan Zinc is interested in mining lithium, antimony, germanium, copper, and graphite and is seeking the assistance of firms from Australia, South Africa, Peru, Chile, as well as China for exploration, he said.

China, which controls the bulk of global rare earth mining, suspended exports of a wide range of rare earths and related magnets in April, upending critical supply chains for automakers, aerospace manufacturers, and semiconductor firms. —REUTERS

China to ease rare earth restrictions

CHINA USED TO account for nearly half of these supplies. While India's renewable energy sector is fast turning local, it would still rely significantly on imported equipment in the medium term. The country also has an overwhelming dependency on China when it comes to meeting the requirement of active pharmaceutical ingredients (APIs) for its globally competent drug-makers.

Reacting to the development, Nifty auto index continued its surge after Monday's rally. It has risen 5.55% over the past two sessions, outperforming the benchmark Nifty which gained 1.42%.

The Chinese minister is in India for the 24th round of border talks with National Security Advisor Ajit Doval, which were held on Tuesday. He also met Prime Minister Narendra Modi later in the evening.

At the talks Doval said: "Borders have been quiet. There has been peace and tranquillity. Our bilateral relations have become more substantial." Modi will be in Tianjin in China from August 31 to September 1 for the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) summit. He will also be holding a bilateral meeting with Chinese President Xi Jinping.

On April 4, China announced curbs on the export of seven key heavy rare-earth elements as well as rare-earth magnets (REM), intensifying global supply concerns. Domestic manufacturers, heavily reliant on Chinese imports, have inventory, including shipments in transit, of only 2-4 months.

India has an overwhelming dependency on China when it comes to meeting the requirement of APIs for its globally competent drug-makers

Under China's new licensing system for rare earth exports, companies importing sensitive materials like REMs must submit end-use certificates. In May, around three dozen companies including Bosh, Hitachi, Mahle, Brose, Dana, Varroc, Minda, Nippon Audiotronix, HMC, Sona Comstar, Continental, Valeo applied for magnet import permission. The Chinese government rejected Sona Precision Forgings' (Sona Comstar) application to import REMs, making it the first Indian company to face such a decision under China's tightened export control regime.

The domestic industry in June started signalling distress signals due to supply constructions. Earphone makers and automotive players were among the first to feel the heat. In the case of fertilisers, out of the total urea import of 5.64 million tonne in FY25, China had a share of 0.99 MT. In the case of DAP, imports from China were only 0.84 MT last fiscal out of total imports of 4.97 MT.

The fertiliser ministry last month had stated in Parliament that over the past 2–3 months, China has reportedly withheld export of specialty fertilisers - used to increase the yields of fruits, vegetables, and other remunerative crops to India. To offset the shortfall from China Indian firms started sourcing from alternative suppliers in Belgium, Egypt, Germany, Morocco and USA.

● SUNDARARAMAN RAMAMURTHY, MANAGING DIRECTOR & CEO, BSE

'Working on increasing market-making via BSE'

The BSE continues to face the challenge of best price execution for achieving a level-playing field, MD & CEO Sundararaman Ramamurthy tells Ananya Grover and Mahesh Nayak. The exchange has also requested markets regulator Sebi to consider making SME entry criteria more stringent, he says. Excerpts:

SMART ORDER ROUTING STILL BYPASSES BSE. BEST PRICE EXECUTION REMAINS A CHALLENGE

IT'S NOT JUST DERIVATIVES, OVER 30% OF OUR REVENUE NOW COMES FROM NON-TRADING BUSINESSES

What were some of the key challenges when you took over as the MD & CEO?
The list is long. Out of 10 years, there were operating losses in seven. The main source of income was treasury and listing fees, and there was no derivatives product at all. A significantly large amount of around ₹500 crore had been distributed to members over a period of time for liquidity enhancement and technology scheme, but it did not have any impact on the bottomline or topline positively. There were other challenges, including employee morale, looming retirement of many CXOs and infrastructure.

But we are in a better place now. We have fewer pay grades and a clear methodology of appraisal. Changes in infrastructure have been made. The most important part is building business. So, we met 350 brokers and factored in all the inputs they provided. The results are very evident. All the nine quarters till now, every quarter has been better than the previous quarter. That's the way we have been progressing.

Do you think introducing products in the F&O market has been key to BSE's revival?
It was one of the most important products, but not the only one. Our mutual fund business orders have tripled. The total AUM across all BSE indices is somewhere around ₹11.5 lakh crore, with the passive alone being around ₹2.5 lakh crore. We have started enhanced data as a new line of business. Another is co-location services. The number of listings is also increasing. So, it's just not just derivatives, but 30% plus is non-trading revenue for us.

How does the BSE keep checks and surveillance on SMEs?
Wherever the problem lies, SME or mainboard, we have to ensure enough controls are built so that only good companies come to the market. Having said that, SME started with the feather-touch regulatory process. Therefore, there was a clear understanding that there will be bad ones coming in as well. That is why we did not permit retail investors to get into SME by putting in a higher threshold. While there should be ease, there should also be enough control. Of the 600 companies, around 55 are not in the trading system as they are suspended or delisted.

So it's not that we don't take action against SMEs. Quite a few applications are rejected. We have given AI software to merchant bankers and told them that before applying, they should check if the company is BSE-compliant. We should also make entry criteria more stringent, which we are doing. We have also requested the Sebi to consider as well where they have to give a directive.

What is your take on the longer-tenure contracts being pushed by Sebi? Do you think weekly Bankex contracts are essential for liquidity?
Bankex lost all its volume almost when it shifted from a weekly contract to monthly. We feel we need to educate market participants on the importance of monthly products and their benefits for arbitrage or hedging. So, we are in the process of doing so. At some point, this will have its impact.

Are there any plans to launch more derivatives?
There are some plans on equity products. But we feel the time has now come for us to think about a larger plate. We should think about how we popularise corporate bonds because things have not worked out despite all the efforts from the government and the banking and markets regulators. SMEs and mutual funds are important. We need more corporates to come. They should not all be only big corporates. When there are 600 million SMEs, how do you identify, say, maximum 60,000 good SME companies and bring them for listing? That is very important and will help in capital creation for the country.

What are the challenges in the cash market? Do you think it is a level-playing field now?
The common contract note has been taken care of, but a lot of retail mobile apps still do not provide a level-playing field. The Smart Order Routing, when it is switched, will not send any order to BSE, because it is based on crude logic of taking only one exchange's prices and volumes. So, best price execution still remains a challenge and we are talking to market participants. Now that there is a common contract note, they should use it and insist on best price execution.

We should request all high-frequency traders of ours to put their servers in the co-location racks that we have provided and start using them for generating algorithmic volume so that they can do more market-making with BSE and more order matching will happen in the exchange as well so that the overall market grows.

Bond yield closes above 6.50% first time in FY26

DHARAMRAJ DHUTIA
Mumbai, August 19

PRICES OF GOVERNMENT bonds continued their decline for a second session on Tuesday as the proposed overhaul in the GST stoked fears of fiscal slippage, pushing the 10-year yield to end above 6.50% for the first time in this financial year.

The benchmark 10-year bond ended at 6.514%, its highest level since March 28, and up from Monday's close of 6.4968%. On Monday, the yield logged its biggest single-day rise in 22 months.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi rolled out major overhauls to the goods and services tax (GST) on Friday, effectively lowering prices on everyday essentials and electronics starting in October. Traders fear that the tax reform plan could widen federal and state budget deficits and lead to higher debt supply, which has shrunk the demand for debt.

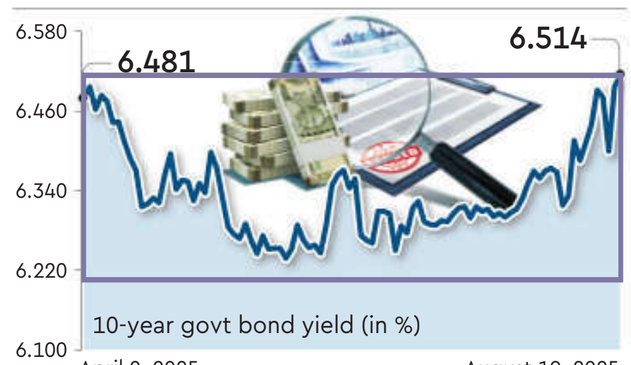

"The GST reforms announcement has made bond markets nervous once again as fiscal slippage concerns resurface. We estimate the annualised gross GST revenue loss of 0.5-0.6% of gross domestic product," said Upasna Bhardwaj, chief economist at Kotak Mahindra Bank. "Going ahead, we expect the benchmark 10-year bond yield to trade in the 6.35%-6.50% range."

The development has completely reversed the decline in yields that followed S&P Global Ratings' upgrade last week, in which the agency revised India's long-term sovereign credit rating to 'BBB' from 'BBB-' —the first such action in 18 years.

Despite fiscal worries remaining aplenty, government officials insisted the fiscal deficit goal was still within reach, even as the tax revamp trims a significant revenue source.

Rupee clocks biggest rise in over a month

THE RUPEE SAW its biggest rise in over a month on Tuesday over optimism that the US may ease its stance on the additional 25% tariffs imposed on domestic goods after Donald Trump met with the Russian and Ukrainian presidents. The local currency was also bolstered by growth optimism following the Centre's proposal to cut tax rates. —REUTERS

Auto shares at 10-month high

AUTO STOCKS REMAINED in the limelight for the second consecutive day as the Nifty Auto index surged 5.55% over the past two sessions, outperforming the benchmark Nifty, which gained 1.42%. Optimism over the proposed GST reforms and reports that China has assured India of addressing supply bottlenecks in rare earth magnets eased concerns and drove the sectoral gauge to a 10-month high. According to a report by Kotak Institutional Equities, the government is expected to forgo an estimated revenue of ₹1.3 lakh crore due to the cut in GST rates, of which ₹50,800 crore, or nearly 40%, will benefit the auto sector alone. —Kishor Kadam

Bank of India plans to list mutual fund, life insurance subsidiaries

MAHESH NAYAK
Mumbai, August 19

BANK OF INDIA (BOI) is considering listing its mutual fund and life insurance arms, following in the footsteps of public sector peers such as State Bank of India and Canara Bank, which have already explored or initiated IPO plans for their subsidiaries.

"Mutual fund and insurance subsidiaries are most likely to be off the block when the time is right," said managing director and CEO Rajneesh Karnatak, adding that listing won't take place this year. "Our focus right now is on growing these platforms organically, expanding distribution and ensuring they are strategically aligned with our core banking business."

In June, the finance ministry asked public sector banks to look at monetising their investment in subsidiaries by listing them on the bourses after scaling up operations. BOI is taking a more measured approach, prioritising scale and value before stepping into the capital markets.

As on July 2025, BOI Mutual Fund, a wholly owned subsidiary, had an asset under management of ₹13,183 crore with 762,969 investor folios across 20 equity, hybrid and debt funds. In Star Union Daiichi, the life insurance arm, BOI holds a 27.5% stake. For FY25, the arm earned a net premium income of ₹8,033 crore. As on July 2025, it enjoyed a market share of 3.25% among private insurers in terms of first premium.

"Our subsidiaries are not just ancillary businesses for us, they are strategic levers that complement our core banking operations and help us offer a full-spectrum financial ecosystem to our customers. Both mutual fund and life insurance are integral to our cross-sell strategy and customer engagement model," said Karnatak. "We are not rushing to list these arms just to unlock short-term value. Our focus is on building embedded value first, expanding distribution, improving profitability, and strengthening operational metrics. Once we reach a threshold where the businesses are mature and scalable, we'll consider listing them."

BOI is leveraging its MF and insurance arms to deepen customer engagement by bundling products with salary accounts, housing loans and wealth offerings and driving cross-sell across its 5,300-branch network. "Product bundling has been a game-changer. Offering 3-in-1 accounts and wealth products has increased average balances by over 2.5 times compared with a simple standalone savings account. We have seen a clear growth in product-per-customer metric," he said.

BOI has already infused the required regulatory capital into both the entities. "We're building long-term value. Once the scale is in place, the market will recognise the strength of these businesses," Karnatak added.

Sebi's indices rejig plan good, but long overdue: Experts

NESIL STANEY
Mumbai, August 19

DESPITE HAILING SEBI'S proposal to restructure the equity indices linked to derivatives contracts to prevent market manipulation as a significant move, industry experts on Tuesday said it should have been done long ago.

"While this regulatory response is significant, one may argue such a framework should have been introduced earlier, as it may have shielded the markets from vulnerabilities that came to light in Jane Street case," said Aditya Bhansali, founding partner, Mindspright Legal.

Sebi had accused US-based Jane Street of deliberately influencing the bank index and banned it from trading activities.

The phased approach to restructuring, proposed on Monday, aims to strengthen market integrity by making the indices less prone to manipulations. "It's a welcome measure. Getting the balance right in an index having firms with huge market capitalisation is a global concern for regulators," said Pranav Haridasan, MD and CEO, Axis Securities.

Sebi wants to reduce the dominance of a few stocks in an index. When a small number of stocks carry high weightage, it becomes easier for traders to influence the price movement of the entire index by targeting those constituents. For example, in Bank Nifty, HDFC Bank and ICICI Bank together account for over 55% of the index. Such a level of concentration means movements in these two stocks can swing the whole index, thereby creating opportunities for index-level manipulations.

"This step will strengthen the structural resilience of the indices against risks. This is a good move," said Bhansali.

Sebi made the proposal initially to restructure the NSE's Nifty Bank and BSE's Bankex. The Bank Nifty comprises 12 stocks. Sebi has suggested increasing it to at least 14 to promote diversification and resilience. It has also suggested that weightage of the top constituents can't be more than 20% each and the total weight of the top three constituents cannot be more than 45%.

Zeta outlines roadmap for banks to leverage UPI

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, August 19

WITH UPI STRENGTHENING its position as India's dominant digital payment rail, banks are finding themselves increasingly sidelined, bearing infrastructure costs, while fintechs like Google Pay (GPay) and PhonePe are monetising user engagement. Zeta, a SoftBank and Mastercard-backed unicorn fintech startup, offers a strategic roadmap to reverse this imbalance and help banks reclaim relevance in the fast-evolving payments ecosystem in a report.

"Today, customers transact 25-30 times a month on GPay and PhonePe apps. That mindshare banks have lost," said Mehul Mistry, global head - strategy & products at Zeta.

Zeta's eBook titled Reimagining UPI for Banks outlines 10 high-impact innovations—from smart UPI wallets and add-on UPI IDs to contextual credit-on-tap and merchant cash flow-based lending.

"We realised that a customer using a RuPay credit card linked to UPI was transacting nearly three times more than a traditional card user. That was a turning point," said Mistry. "It showed us if banks integrate UPI natively into their mobile apps with rewards, controls and onboarding, they can win back engagement."

Vivifi India eyes 30-40% biz from MSMEs in 12 months

KSHIPRA PETKAR
Mumbai, August 19

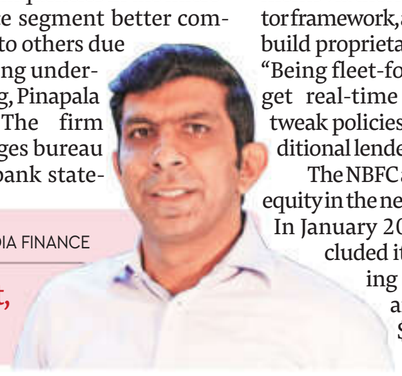

VIVIFI INDIA FINANCE aims to increase its micro, small and medium enterprise (MSME) book to 30-40% of its total business in the next 12 months, chief executive officer and founder Anil Pinapala told FE. The non-banking financial company (NBFC) also plans to introduce more instalment loan products, he added.

"We can't remain a single-product, single-segment company," Pinapala said, noting that the shift is driven by both market opportunity and regulatory evolution. The firm has been primarily focussed on personal loans.

Vivifi has been able to tackle the delinquencies in the microfinance segment better compared to others due to strong underwriting, Pinapala said. The firm leverages bureau data, bank statements via the Account Aggregator framework, and video KYC to build proprietary credit scores. "Being fleet-footed helps—we get real-time data and can tweak policies faster than traditional lenders," he added.

The NBFC also aims to raise equity in the next 9-12 months. In January 2024, it had concluded its Series B funding round, securing an investment of $75 million through debt and equity. "The proceeds will be used mainly to maintain a healthy capital adequacy ratio, invest in technology, and to maintain and grow their MSME book," Pinapala said.

Vivifi closed 2024-25 (April-March) with a revenue of ₹293 crore and a profit of ₹16 crore. It has maintained profitable operations for the seventh consecutive year, taking cumulative disbursements to over ₹4,500 crore, serving more than half a million customers.

DeepSeek unveils V3.1, boosting AI capabilities

DEEPSEEK ANNOUNCED WHAT appeared to be an update to its older V3 artificial intelligence model on Tuesday, declaring an enhanced version ready for testing. The V3.1 has a longer context window, according to a DeepSeek post to its official WeChat group, meaning it can consider a larger amount of information for any given query. That could allow it to maintain longer conversations with better recall, for example. The Hangzhou-based startup didn't offer much more detail on the update and hasn't posted documentation to major platforms including Hugging Face.

Home Depot misses quarterly estimates

HOME DEPOT MISSED analysts' estimates for second-quarter sales and profit on Tuesday, as price-conscious homeowners reined in spending on large-scale renovations and focused on do-it-yourself projects. It posted net sales of $45.28 billion for the quarter ended August 3.

Air Canada resume services as cabin crew strike ends

AIR CANADA'S UNIONISED flight attendants reached an agreement with the largest carrier on Tuesday, ending the first strike by its cabin crew in 40 years that had upended travel plans for hundreds of thousands of passengers. The strike that lasted nearly four days had led the airline to withdraw its third quarter and full-year earnings guidance.

UK scraps demand for Apple 'backdoor' after pressure from US

VLAD SAVOV, MARK GURMAN & LUCY WHITE
August 19

THE UK HAS dropped efforts to force Apple to open a so-called backdoor to US users' data, removing a point of contention between the two sides as they seek to finalise a broader trade deal.

US director of national intelligence Tulsi Gabbard said that British authorities had rescinded an order asking the company to circumvent encryption to help them pursue certain national security and criminal investigations. The move had drawn protests from senior US officials and prompted Apple to remove its most advanced encrypted security feature for cloud data in the UK.

"The UK has agreed to drop its mandate for Apple to provide a 'backdoor' that would have enabled access to the protected encrypted data of American citizens and encroached on our civil liberties," Gabbard said on X, crediting backing from US President Donald Trump and his deputy, JD Vance. The post drew support from X's owner Elon Musk, a frequent critic of British efforts to police speech over internet platforms.

The UK government declined to comment on "operational matters" including the existence of any such orders. "We have long had joint security and intelligence arrangements with the US to tackle the most serious threats," the government said. Still, a UK official separately said they wouldn't dispute Gabbard's assessment.

The UK is seeking to smooth over a range of disputes with the Trump administration as it works to finalise tariff relief promised more than three months ago. Gabbard's post came hours after UK Prime Minister Keir Starmer visited the White House as part of a high-stakes effort by European leaders to shape a peace deal to end Russia's invasion of Ukraine.

The British government had ordered the iPhone maker in January to disable its most advanced encryption for information stored in its cloud services, which may include communications like voice memos and device backups. Apple has resisted government pressure to weaken its encryption because it undermines user privacy and cybersecurity.

Senior British officials initiated conversations with the US government earlier this year in an attempt to resolve the dispute. They emphasised that the UK would only request data to investigate serious crimes, such as terrorism and child sexual abuse, people familiar with the discussions told Bloomberg at the time. The rights of American citizens were safeguarded in the UK-US Data Access Agreement signed in 2019, the people said.

Apple did not respond to a request for comment.

US PREZ ENCOURAGES PUTIN, ZELENSKYY TO HOLD A BILATERAL SUMMIT

Trump: Putin may not want to make a deal on Ukraine

REUTERS
Washington, August 19

US PRESIDENT DONALD Trump said on Tuesday he hoped Vladimir Putin was going to "be good" and move forward toward ending the war in Ukraine, but conceded it was possible the Russian president doesn't want to make a deal.

"I don't think it's going to be a problem, to be honest with you. I think Putin is tired of it. I think they're all tired of it, but you never know," Trump said in an interview with the Fox News.

Trump spoke the day after hosting Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy and European leaders at the White House for talks on his peace efforts, a meeting that followed his summit with Putin in Alaska last Friday.

"We're going to find out about President Putin in the next couple of weeks... It's possible that he doesn't want to make a deal," Trump said, adding that Putin faced a "rough situation" if that were not the case.

After Monday's talks, Trump had said that he had called Putin to help set up a one-on-one meeting between Putin and Zelenskyy that would be followed by a trilateral meeting to include himself.

Trump said that he thought relations between Putin and Zelenskyy might be "a little bit better" or else he would not have pursued their one-on-one meeting.

He also cited his own warm relationship with Putin even as he acknowledged the potential for a deal to fall through.

"I hope President Putin is going to be good, and if he's not, it's going to be a rough situation. And I hope that ...President Zelenskyy will do what he has to do. He has to show some flexibility also," Trump said.

On security guarantees for Ukraine that Kyiv and its allies are seeking as part of any peace settlement, Trump said that while Europe was willing to commit troops in some form, the US would not, although it could provide other assistance.

"There'll be some form of security. It can't be NATO," he said. "They're willing to put people on the ground. We're willing to help them with things, especially, probably, if you could talk about by air."

Asked what assurances he could give that the US troops would not be on the ground defending Ukraine's border, he said: "You have my assurance. You know, I'm president."

Switzerland ready to host Putin for peace talks

SWITZERLAND WOULD BE ready to host Russian President Vladimir Putin for any peace talks on Ukraine despite an existing arrest warrant for him from the International Criminal Court, foreign minister Ignazio Cassis said on Tuesday.

Neutral Switzerland is a signatory to the ICC but Cassis told Swiss national broadcaster SRF that provided Putin was coming for peace purposes, the country could receive him.

"This has to do with our diplomatic role, with international Geneva as headquarters of the UN," Cassis said.

French President Emmanuel Macron mooted Geneva as a potential location for Ukraine peace talks between Putin and Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy after a meeting between US President Trump, elenskyy and European leaders in Washington.

Xiaomi plans to foray into European market by 2027

LINDA LEW
August 19

XIAOMI INTENDS TO sell its first electric vehicle in Europe by 2027, declaring plans to take on Tesla and BYD globally after gaining traction with its year-old Chinese EV business.

President Lu Weibing shed more light on the company's expansion plans after reporting a 31% rise in quarterly revenue, riding the successful launch of its second electric vehicle over the summer. That helped counter slowing demand for smartphones.

Xiaomi has previously described ambitions to go global, though it's never specified a target market. Europe is a common destination for Chinese carmakers like BYD seeking to tap a more lucrative arena, while governments across the continent are wooing Chinese EV and battery firms in part to mitigate impact from US tariffs.

Strong demand for the YU7 sport utility vehicle, which co-founder Lei Jun released at the end of June, is propelling Xiaomi's $10 billion gamble on a fast-growing but crowded EV arena. The company aims to become one of the world's top five carmakers, despite a production crunch that's testing its ability to scale up. Wait times for the SUV have stretched to more than a year.

Revenue climbed to 116 billion yuan ($16.2 billion) in the June quarter, just edging past the average analyst estimate. It delivered 81,302 cars, taking the total to more than 157,000 in the first half — on track to surpass 2024's haul. But smartphones — its original and largest business — slid 2.1% and missed the average projection by about 5%.

While Xiaomi doesn't expect smartphones to see much growth this year, the company's goal is to increase its market share in China by 1% every year, Lu said on Tuesday.

Losses from the EV division narrowed to about 300 million yuan during the period. Lei said at an investor meeting in June that the carmaking venture is expected to turn profitable in the second half of this year.

Xiaomi has gained some $120 billion of market value over the past year, galvanised by a drive into EVs that's gained momentum against much larger and more experienced rivals. The company seems to have shaken off a fatal accident involving one of its SU7 sedans in March, which had its Autopilot turned on. The crash prompted regulators to rein in the deployment of advanced driver assistance technology.

The Chinese government also intervened in June to try to stop a long-running price war that has squeezed margins all along the auto supply chain.

ChatGPT joins low-cost AI rush

OTHER GENAI SERVICES companies are not too far behind. OpenAI, the creator of ChatGPT, joined hands with Grammarly, the AI-based English correction platform, last month to launch sharply reduced subscription plans for Indian users.

Grammarly cut its subscription price to ₹250 a month (billed annually), nearly three-fourths lower than its global rate.

Perplexity, another rising challenger to ChatGPT and Google's Gemini, struck a deal with Bharti Airtel earlier this month to offer its premium services free to subscribers. Normally priced at around ₹17,000 a year, the chatbot is now accessible to Airtel customers at no additional cost—an aggressive play that has set off a new "volume game" in the sector.

Google has also rolled out free access to some of its premium AI tools—including Google AI Pro, Deep Research and NotebookLM—along with 2TB of cloud storage. The bundle, usually priced at nearly ₹19,500 a year, is now being offered at no cost to Indian users, underscoring the high stakes. Industry watchers say these price wars reflect the growing recognition that India, with its young, digitally native Gen Z population, cannot be monetised at Western subscription levels. Netflix, Spotify and Microsoft previously adopted similar strategies to grow their user bases in the country.

OpenAI's newly introduced ChatGPT Go plan sits between its free and Plus tiers. The free plan offers limited GPT-5 access, slower image generation, and minimal memory. The Go tier, at ₹399, upgrades this to faster image creation, longer memory, and greater file and query limits. The Plus plan remains priced at ₹1,999, bundling advanced reasoning with GPT-5, access to Sora video generation, Codex agent tools, and expanded research features. At the top end, OpenAI's Pro subscription costs ₹19,900 per month, offering unlimited GPT-5 access, advanced research capabilities, and early experimental features.

OpenAI currently claims 700 million global users, with India accounting for its second-largest consumer base. Analysts expect the company to cross 1 billion active monthly users soon, with India contributing the lion's share. With China largely closed off, India has become the largest market for global consumer tech. Both Instagram and YouTube count India as their biggest audience base. AI services, experts argue, are likely to follow the same pattern. "Generative AI is no longer a premium novelty here—it's becoming a productivity essential," said a Delhi-based startup founder. "But the single biggest driver of adoption is affordability. Whoever cracks that balance will dominate the market."

Krishna Khandelwal, CEO of Hunar.ai, said: "In India, the cost of labour—especially in knowledge work—remains remarkably low. A software engineer in Bengaluru earns about $12,000 annually, barely one-tenth of the $125,000 average in Silicon Valley. This disparity underpins the rise of Global Capability Centres (GCCs), where organisations leverage labour-cost arbitrage to drive efficiency. For AI adoption in India, pricing models must reflect this reality. If AI services cost more than human labour without delivering clear efficiency gains, adoption will stall. But when priced right, AI does not compete with labour; it complements it — enhancing output while preserving the cost advantages that make India attractive.

SoftBank, Trump plug into Intel's comeback

AGENCIES
August 19

LESS THAN TWO weeks after US President Donald Trump called for the ouster of Intel's Lip-Bu Tan, the company's chief executive officer has a shot at securing billions of dollars in fresh capital that could help him turn around the troubled US chipmaker.

The Trump administration is in discussions to take a stake of about 10% in Intel, possibly by converting grants made to the company under the US Chips and Science Act into equity, sources said. That could allow Intel to tap about $10 billion in capital as Tan works out a strategy for revival.

US commerce secretary Howard Lutnick on Tuesday said the government wanted an equity stake in Intel in exchange for cash grants approved during the administration of former President Joe Biden.

Separately, treasury secretary Scott Bessent said any US investment in Intel would be aimed at helping the troubled chipmaker stabilise.

Bessent told CNBC: "The stake would be a conversion of the grants and maybe increase the investment into Intel to help stabilise the company for chip production here in the US."

Bessent gave no details about the size or timing of any US stake in Intel, but said any investment would not be aimed at forcing US companies to buy chips from Intel.

"We should get an equity stake for our money," Lutnick told CNBC. "We'll get equity in return for that ... instead of just giving grants away." He said the US does not want control of the company.

In another surprise, SoftBank Group agreed to take a $2 billion stake in Intel, as the Japanese company seeks a broader role in the artificial intelligence boom. Founder Masayoshi Son already owns a majority stake in chipmaker Arm Holdings and has laid plans to compete with Nvidia in AI chips. Intel's chipmaking skills could help SoftBank manufacture chips to run — and possibly train — AI models like ChatGPT.

Earlier this month, Tan's hold on his CEO role looked precarious after Trump called on him to resign over alleged conflicts of interest. Yet the executive quickly visited Trump at the White House to clear the air, with the president then praising the Intel CEO for his career success and "amazing story".

The federal government is considering an investment that, under one scenario, would involve converting some or all of the $10.9 billion in grants the company had won under the Chips Act, the sources said. The company can also draw on up to $11 billion in loans under the 2022 law.

Nexstar to buy Tegna for $3.5 bn

NEXSTAR MEDIA HAS agreed to buy smaller rival Tegna for $3.54 billion, creating a local-TV powerhouse that seeks to compete better with Big Tech and national media for advertising dollars.

Acquiring Tegna will expand Nexstar's presence in nine of the top 10 US markets, covering 80% of TV households across key geographies, including Atlanta, Phoenix and Seattle. That could give Nexstar, the largest US regional TV station operator, more leverage with advertisers and pay-TV distributors at a time when local media is grappling with falling revenue.

The transaction is the latest in a wave of media M&A as firms once reliant on steady cable TV profits prepare for a streaming future. REUTERS

Black Hills to buy NorthWestern for $3.6 billion

UTILITY COMPANY BLACK Hills said on Tuesday it would buy peer NorthWestern Energy Group for $3.6 billion.

The all-stock deal, which has an enterprise value of $15.4 billion, would create a regional regulated natural gas utility company with a pro forma market capitalisation of roughly $7.8 billion.

The per-share value of about $59 implies a premium of 7.66% to NorthWestern's last close, according to Reuters calculation.

NorthWestern shareholders will receive 0.98 shares of Black Hills for each held. Black Hills stockholders would own roughly 56% of the company after the deal closes, which is expected in 12 to 15 months.

Online money games face ban

BESIDES, THERE ARE more than 400 startups, involving ₹25,000 crore in foreign direct investment. The central exchequer stands to lose, too, to the extent of ₹20,000 crore in taxes. The industry also spends around ₹6,000 crore annually on advertising, technology etc, industry sources said.

Companies such as Dream11, MY11Circle, Khelo Fantasy, SG11 Fantasy, WinZO, Games24x7 and Junglee Games are likely to be impacted by the provisions of the Bill.

The draft Bill says the exponential growth of online gaming in India has brought to light a number of concerns. While online gaming is a significant part of the creative economy and can contribute to cognitive development and technological literacy, online money gaming in particular raises significant issues, the Bill says, adding these issues include addiction, mental health problems, financial losses leading to suicides, and manipulative practices like opaque algorithms and bots.

The Bill is also understood to have envisioned the creation of a central authority to promote competitive e-sports in the country, while ensuring overall compliance with the law. The Centre will also recognise, categorise and register "online social games" with the authority and facilitate the development and availability of online social games for recreational and educational purposes. Online social games may have an option to accept payment in the form of a subscription fee or access fee, as long as it is not in the form of a stake or wager.

According to a report by FICCI and EY from March 2025, online gaming companies in India collectively earned a revenue of close to over ₹24,000 crore in 2024.

The government has already been taking action against offshore operators and platforms accused of malpractice, including freezing bank accounts and blocking access to non-compliant services. The Bill, once enacted, will formalise these efforts within a statutory framework.

In addition to regulation, plans are underway to impose a 40% goods and services tax on online gaming. The new levy is likely to come into effect around Diwali, officials indicated.

The government has tightened regulation of the online gaming sector in recent years. Player winnings have been taxed at 30% from 2024-25, while a 28% GST on online gaming is in place since October 2023. Authorities now also have the power to block unregistered or illegal offshore platforms, bringing them under the tax net.

The Bill is also an attempt to provide uniform rules across states, several of which already have their own laws on online gaming. By explicitly criminalising betting while regulating skill-based games, the government is seeking to draw a line between entertainment and gambling in the digital space.

MENDING FENCES

Chinese foreign minister Wang Yi

History and reality prove that a healthy relationship between India and China serves the long-term interests of both countries

Getting back on track

China provides India a critical counterbalance to US as a source of capital and technology

China's reported decision to consider resumption of exports of rare earth magnets and fertilisers marks a big step in fixing a relationship that went sour after the Galwan crisis of 2019. The thaw started in earnest last October when President Xi Jinping of China met with Prime Minister Narendra Modi at a summit of emerging economies in Kazan, Russia. Since then, the two countries have increased official visits and discussed easing trade barriers and the movement of people. They have eased travel visa restrictions and are working to restore direct flights. In June, Beijing allowed pilgrims from India to visit holy sites in Tibet. China and India are also in discussions to reopen three trading posts along their mountainous boundary. This month, Modi will visit China for the first time in seven years to attend a regional security summit meeting in Tianjin.

These are encouraging signs, specially at a time when India is suffering collateral damage in its trade negotiations with the US. The stand-off between New Delhi and Beijing has strained the relationship for nearly five years now—India has restricted Chinese investments, without explicitly saying so, and also limited the entry of Chinese professionals. It also imposed strictures on tourist visas for Chinese nationals. On its part, China restricted exports of urea shipments to India, a big blow given that India is the world's top importer of the crop nutrient. The bigger damage was a virtual ban on exports of rare earths. China controls about 50% of officially recognised reserves of rare earths, 70% of the extraction capability, and 90% of the processing capacity. While Indian manufacturers of electric vehicles (EVs) and solar panels have some inventory, the shortage of rare earth magnets is beginning to hit production as India sourced over 80% of its roughly 540-tonne magnet imports from China last fiscal—an indication of how dependent it is on its northern neighbour.

China has also been miffed because manufacturers like Apple Inc have been shifting production to India. No wonder, the country has been determined to stall technology transfers and exports of equipment to India and other Southeast Asian nations in a bid to protect its manufacturing base. In early July, Apple's largest iPhone assembler Foxconn recalled hundreds of Chinese engineers and technicians from its iPhone factories in India, disrupting business. One hopes things will be back on track as the fact is that India has been hit harder by the tensions between the two countries. China, with its manufacturing prowess, is on a much stronger ground. While diplomacy is complex, a lasting reconciliation is important. In that context, it's encouraging that the two countries have scheduled border talks in 2026.

India must make more proactive moves and give Chinese firms greater access while ensuring national security. Ahead of Prime Minister Modi's visit to Beijing, New Delhi is understood to be weighing easier rules for Chinese investments in select sectors. Also, several Indian business groups are learnt to be scouting for partnerships with Chinese companies for technology transfers. Bloomberg reports, citing sources, that the Adani Group, Reliance Industries, and JSW Group have been pursuing deals in sectors like EVs and lithium-ion cells. The point is that China provides India a critical counterbalance to what is now known as the "Trumpian disorder" as a source of capital and technology.

REGULATORS MUST CONFINE TO MARKET DEVELOPMENT, AND NOT BUSINESS GROWTH, TO AVERT SUCH EPISODES

Beyond Jane Street

CKG NAIR
MS SAHOO
Respectively former member, Securities Appellate Tribunal, and former chairperson, Insolvency and Bankruptcy Board of India

THE SECURITIES AND Exchange Board of India's (Sebi) July 3 Jane Street order, hailed by commentators as a landmark, a moment of reckoning, and a wake-up call, is unique in several respects. It showcases Sebi's technological prowess in unravelling a labyrinth of high-frequency, cross-market algorithmic trades on a massive scale, and its legal acumen in establishing contraventions within the nuanced legal contours of market manipulation. And in a twist, perhaps unprecedented, the interim order included a stay, allowing the accused to continue trading, though subject to conditions, even before they responded to allegations of massive fraud in the show cause, and Sebi uncovered the full extent of the manipulation.

It is a moment of reckoning because Sebi had long warned about such risks, repeatedly highlighting over the last few years the ballooning derivatives markets and mounting retail investor losses. In January 2023, a Sebi study revealed that nine out of 10 retail investors were suffering heavy losses—though it was unclear who benefitted from these losses and whether the gains were concentrated in a few hands. Sebi widely publicised these findings as part of its efforts to educate small investors in the derivatives segment. Yet this evidence-based diagnosis of a spot-derivatives mismatch and massive retail losses, signalling possible tectonic shifts, did not trigger major regulatory reforms.

Interestingly, these findings emerged in an era of regulatory "hyperactivity", when the market faced a flurry of regulatory amendments, including fine-tuning language from "comprises of" to "consist of". Yet the first tranche of regulatory measures to address the big bubbles in the derivatives market was announced only 18 months later, and only after two further studies: Analysis of Intraday Trading by Individuals in the Equity Cash Segment (July 2024) and Analysis of Profits & Losses in the Equity Derivatives Segment (FY22-FY24) (September 2024).

On October 1, 2024, Sebi announced a package of measures to "Strengthen the Equity Index Derivatives Framework for Increased Investor Protection and Market Stability". The measures included upfront collection of option premium from options buyers; removal of calendar spread benefit on the expiry day; intraday monitoring of position limits; increase in contract size for index derivatives; rationalisation of weekly index derivatives products; and higher tail-risk coverage on options expiry day. These were to be implemented in a phased manner between November 1, 2024, and April 1.

This debacle also exposed the cracks in India's market structure, forcing the regulator to choose between patchwork fixes and deep reform

Except for the reduction in the number of weekly index derivatives, all other measures were too modest to rein in the rampaging market. This was borne out by yet another Sebi study, released on July 7, titled "Comparative Study of Growth in Equity Derivatives Segment vis-à-vis Cash Market after Recent Measures". The study revealed that although derivatives volumes had declined somewhat, 91% of retail investors lost money in FY25, higher than in FY24.

It was a classic case of the regulator being on the horns of a dilemma: whether to take substantive, structural measures to address the underlying ailment or to offer only symptomatic relief. Many regulators hesitate to deflate a booming market, fearing it might stunt market growth. This fear is often rooted in a distorted understanding of what market development entails. The regulator's mandate is market development, not driving business growth, a distinction essential to preventing regulatory capture and avoiding conflicts of interest.

On this, the Financial Sector Legislative Reforms Commission is explicit: "Regulators should pursue a developmental strategy that fosters the development and improvement of market-wide infrastructure and processes.....to modernise market infrastructure or market process,.... the adoption of new technology; ... to provide for product differentiation, or enlarging consumer participation; or to align market infrastructure or market process with international best practices. This goal should be subordinate to the goals of consumer protection and micro-prudential regulation, and should only be pursued where there is evidence of co-ordination failures in the market impeding the development of such infrastructure and processes."

Prevailing discourses on market development often translate into pressure for business growth. This is evident in measures such as encouraging listings through multiple windows with differential or relaxed conditions, and allowing the proliferation of derivative products on both indices and individual stocks. Single-stock futures and options (F&O), introduced in late 2001 for a limited set of large-cap companies with substantial market capitalisation, have since expanded, now covering 216 scrips on the NSE and 212 on the BSE. It is not that the quality of all these scrips has improved to justify their derivatives. Some of them hardly inspire confidence, even for spot trading. It is widely acknowledged that, barring a few exceptions, liquidity and volumes outside the Nifty 100/Sensex 100 universe are too low to justify the F&O on those scrips.

Some major indices suffer from heavy concentration. For example, in the NIFTY 50, the top two scrips account for 25% of the weight, and in the Bank Nifty they account for 53%. Many indices record negligible trading volumes. Exchange-traded derivatives on securities were legally "rescued" from being treated as wagering in 1999 through amendments to the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956, to facilitate hedging and the orderly development of securities markets, not to create an expanded arena for punters or to generate volume-based tax, fee, or profit for the various entities.

Winds of change are visible in Sebi's approach to market development, as reflected in recent statements and public remarks by its functionaries. The need to deepen the equity segment is being emphasised more openly. Hopefully, the parametric thresholds in the current "rigorous" methodology for constructing indices, and for permitting single-stock F&O, will be revisited to exclude shallow indices and illiquid stocks.

The Jane Street episode is the culmination of a story long whispered by market observers and foretold by Sebi. This debacle also exposed the cracks in India's market structure, forcing the regulator to choose between patchwork fixes and deep reform. Though belated, Sebi should use this crisis, and the vivid, unflattering picture it has revealed of the market's structure, conduct, and performance, to drive substantive structural reforms. Guided by a broad, consistent macroeconomic-finance road map and a regulatory philosophy aimed at building a deeper and more stable Main Street.

China's economy needs help, but will it come?

IF EVER THERE were conditions that cried out for stimulus, China appears to have met them. Recent gauges of growth and inflation were more than just disappointing.

After an encouraging start to the year, the expansion is in trouble. But authorities have given little sign they are prepared to jettison the caution that has characterised their actions. Fiscal policy has already done some work and, while economists predict interest-rate cuts later this year, the reductions are likely to be modest. The wait-and-see approach could be justified while activity was holding up reasonably well and the US was figuring out just how punitive tariffs would be. Beijing seems intent to just muddle through.

Figures released on Friday show a pronounced slackening. Production was more sluggish than anticipated and retail sales, which President Xi Jinping hoped would be a bright spot, were off the boil. Fixed-asset investment, a proxy for capital spending, languished. The jobless rate in urban areas edged up; at 5.2% it exceeds the US national measure by a fair margin. Deflationary pressures persist and the number of new loans plunged.

There's no good reason for the People's Bank of China to hesitate. Incremental cuts of around 10 basis points, the size the bank prefers, will only go so far. It would be a pleasant surprise if it delivered a full-quarter point reduction, though this is often the bare minimum for central banks elsewhere. That's probably hoping for too much, but whatever the monetary authority had planned should be brought forward.

What—or who—might be staying Governor Pan Gongsheng's hand? The bank isn't independent in the manner of the Federal Reserve or the European Central Bank. China's leadership is probably concerned about sending the wrong signal, one that has a whiff of panic or betrays a sense of vulnerability. That's understandable when trade talks with Washington are progressing. It's easy to see President Donald Trump milking stimulus on social media. He went as far as calling India's economy, which is projected to grow faster than China's this year, a "dead" one. (The White House last week extended a pause on higher duties for China for another 90 days, a step that was matched by Xi.)

DANIEL MOSS
Bloomberg

Also worrying is a crackdown on the price wars that the government is blaming for too-low inflation. The state has launched a campaign to curb the cutthroat competition that's eroded profits and driven down wages. Addressing the spectre of deflation is good, but this resembles a shoot-the-messenger approach. The consumer price index has been hovering around zero for a few years; the cost of living didn't take off after the pandemic as it did elsewhere. The chief problem is a lack of demand from households, which partly reflects the persistent fallout from a real-estate collapse.

Excess industrial capacity isn't helping. The Communist Party's decision-making body listed the goal of addressing "disorderly competition" among companies as one of its top priorities. It's easy to see unemployment climb some more. If there is to be less production, there's less need for staff. And that will keep chipping away at household confidence. China's challenges are all linked.

Monetary policy isn't a balm for everything. Fiscal and regulatory levers also need to be pulled. And given the PBOC's subordination to the Communist Party, it's unfair to expect too much. That doesn't mean that rates and bank reserve requirements don't have their role. Moving quickly on those fronts can provide a signal that poor numbers have the attention of rulers. Xi was heading in the right direction, allowing increased spending to put a floor under the slowdown. There's more to be done.

China no doubt wants to tough out its current difficulties. The long game has appeal, especially given Beijing prefers to see its models and governance as superior. Panic is rarely constructive, but responding in a firm way to swings in the economy has much to commend it.

India's choice after Washington's shock

Faced with US tariffs and a call for self-reliance, India must resist the lure of isolation and choose integration instead

ON INDEPENDENCE DAY, from the Red Fort, the Prime Minister called on India to deepen atmanirbharta (self-reliance). The appeal came just days after Washington hit Indian exports with 50% tariffs and publicly brushed aside New Delhi's bid for a negotiated truce. It is a stirring call, but also a familiar reflex: when faced with an economic crisis, India has turned inward, seeking safety in self-sufficiency. History suggests that path comes at a steep cost.

Yet history shows that two roads lie before us. One leads to openness—absorbing global capital, ideas, and markets—the other to insulation, where we produce for ourselves, in our own way, and on our own terms. We have walked the second path before, and the results have been sobering.

The 1905 Swadeshi and Boycott Movement is the clearest case. Indian private industry and services had been expanding exponentially since 1881, and as Tirthankar Roy's A Business History of India shows, the movement left no visible trace on retail output from 1821 to 1941.

There are aspects of modern economies we must absorb.

First, a firm is not just an assemblage of labour, capital, and materials. It is held together by "knowledge"—the invisible craft of complex contracting, deciphering demand, and perfecting processes. Two paths lead to mastery: we tinker and learn, or we observe and internalise. The best firms do both, collaborating with global peers and adapting know-how to local terrain. Self-reliance walls them off from global knowledge systems, crimping productivity over time.

Second, firms cut their coordination costs through long-term contracts and embedded knowledge flows—not through daily isolated transactions in the marketplace. Picture the difference between keeping an employee on payroll and hiring for a single day. A localisation drive forces a firm to tear up these arrangements. Aldaba (2012) demonstrates: as trade openness wanes, so does productivity. A statistic: Of the $5.6 trillion in exports produced through global value chains, Indian firms account for just 0.5%; China 17.5%.

Weakness at the negotiating table has driven us inward—insular, isolated, and poorer for it. We cannot afford that reflex again

Lastly, "make local" policies saddle businesses with a second objective—"indigenisation"—alongside profit maximisation. When the two collide, firms turn to the political economy for resolution. Over time, firms lean on the state apparatus to shut off market access to foreign firms and disadvantage competitor interests. Plouffe (2017) showed lobbying is much like production costs. Less productive firms compensate for their condition by calling for trade protection.

Our Make in India policy draws power from nationalism and anti-colonial memories. Yet, intellectually, it is an incomplete theory of the world. Global finance and supply chains allow firms to cross borders, locating their factories closest to the sources of demand. But when an Indian automaker opens a factory in South Africa, it violates the principles of Make in India as surely as when a foreign automaker repatriates profits from its factory in Tamil Nadu.

Worldwide, well-meaning localisation drives have ended up straining local MNCs. To champion indigenisation is to believe in an insular India—whose firms don't engage meaningfully with the world and a nation unwilling to shape it. This yearning springs from a desire to imitate the success of others, but with a flawed grasp of the underlying dynamics. The result is incoherence: we welcome foreign direct investment, but only tolerate foreign portfolio investment, and while we seek market access abroad we deny equal treatment to foreign firms at home. To open up an economy is to integrate with the world's flow of capital, labour, and goods tightly. To be a "conduit", not a reservoir of this flow. To breathe in, we have to be willing to breathe out. Swadeshi economics violates these key principles.

For India, the path out of this policy impasse is to jettison the localisation push and instead aim to raise productivity across the economy. That begins with knowledge producers. Reform education, especially at the top, and reintroduce the profit motive. Open academic research labs to global investment to feed knowledge-building. Mashelkar, Shah, and Thomas (2024) outline a clear path to spur innovation by using government procurement to drive R&D demand. Experiment with large, city-sized special economic zones fully wired into global supply, labour, and capital networks. And open the last frontier—agriculture—to foreign capital, firms, and processes.

The intellectual roots of swadeshi trace to Dadabhai Naoroji's Poverty and Un-British Rule in India, with its denunciation of foreign capital and trade. Lost to history is his contemporary Mancherjee Bhownagree, who opposed Naoroji and defended global businesses. Time has proved Bhownagree right.

As another Independence Day passes, we stand once more in the shadow of unfair trade terms. In the past, weakness at the negotiating table has driven us inward—insular, isolated, and poorer for it. We cannot afford that reflex again. History points to the other road: not insulation, but integration. Globalisation is not a shadow from the past; it is the stage for India's ambitions.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Restructuring GST

Apropos of "A bold initiative" (FE, August 19), PM's Independence Day announcement on goods and services tax (GST) rate rationalisation came as a surprise bonanza. Although it deviated from the protocol of the finance ministry normally making such an announcement, it caught the attention of many. Rationalising rates will ease moving a number of frequently used consumable items from a higher to lower tax slab, and help trigger higher consumption of fast-moving consumer goods while possibly compensating for the likely revenue loss due to the restructuring. Unlike other major countries, we still have a multi-tier tax structure. The GST Council must focus on eliminating the multiple rates and have at least a two-tier structure to begin with. In parallel, uncovered items such as petrol, alcohol, electricity, and real estate should be considered to be brought under the tax ambit and reduce the impact of cascading taxes.
—RV Baskaran, Pune

Restructuring GST

The consolidation of multiple slabs into primarily two slabs was much needed. Goods and services tax (GST) 2.0 is a significant shift towards simplification of indirect tax. This reform aims to reduce classification disputes which will benefit businesses and tax authorities alike. It would also boost spending during the forthcoming festive season and in turn will help our economy. The GST Council must also use technology to counter fake entities and fake billing to further the reform. The idea of sharing a portion of revenues to the local bodies is transformative and could potentially help them in improving civic facilities.

INTERVIEW: AMITESH RAO, CEO SOUTH ASIA, LEO, PUBLICIS HEALTH & PUBLICIS BUSINESS

'For us, digital and mainline are one'

At the start of this year, Publicis Groupe brought together Leo Burnett and Publicis Worldwide to form a new 'creative constellation' with the formation of Leo. Amitesh Rao, CEO South Asia, Leo, Publicis Health & Publicis Business, talks to Christina Moniz about the transformation and its impact on the agency's business, and why it has an edge with Gen Z talent. Excerpts:

What has changed since the shift from Leo Burnett to the newly rebranded Leo?
This was much more than a rebranding move from an optics perspective. It has helped us work with clients and talent in any part of the world. In the creative business, the degree of transformation is tremendous. But how do you stay at the vanguard of that transformation? With Leo, we have a philosophy, which is HI x AI. Very simply, it means that we bring the best of human intelligence together with the best of tech, data and artificial intelligence. The move basically adds an additional layer of creative and strategic firepower.

How has the transformation helped Leo? Has it made the agency nimble, tech-enabled or helped win more businesses?
Leo's track record in India and globally has been excellent even before this transformation happened. We are far outstripping the industry growth numbers, growing at least 40-50% faster than other agencies of similar scale across networks. Our agency works with a solution-oriented approach, which helps us win businesses by delivering results in a rapidly transforming marketplace. We have won upwards of 70 clients since January last year, but I don't believe that the number of new client wins is an indicator of a healthy business.

We have seen agencies often pick up dozens of businesses by pricing themselves at an unsustainable level. While we are seeing a growing volume of project work in the industry over the last couple of years, the biggest brands in India and around the world come on the back of long-term relationships with creative agencies. Some of our client relationships at Leo have been over 20 years old, and often our best work has been with these brands.

How much of your revenue comes from global brands and clients?
I cannot share numbers, but I can say that global business has become a significant growth lever for Leo in India. We're working with brands in Europe, the Middle East, China, Latin America and other parts of the world in collaboration with Leo talent in different markets. For example, we recently collaborated with PepsiCo globally to announce energy drink Sting's partnership with Formula1 across 129 countries. This partnership was completely conceptualised and executed by us in India, alongside our teams across various markets.

"BRING THE BEST OF HUMAN INTELLIGENCE TOGETHER WITH THE BEST OF TECH, DATA AND AI"

Given the evolution in ad formats on the back of diverse digital platforms, would you say that the old TV commercial is losing relevance today?
I resist trying to draw these binary divisions between social, digital, TV, OTT, etc. Consumers do not draw these boundaries, so why should marketers and advertising agencies do it? Brands need to create meaning in a consumer's life and must have storytelling that conveys that meaning. This fact has not changed. What has changed is that brands can do it in a 15-minute film, a six-second advert or a micro drama. Communication may be in a film or in consumer experience on an app. Regardless of the format, it is incumbent upon brands to engage with consumers effectively. At the agency, we do not distinguish between digital-first or mainline. Creative solutions can come from anywhere.

How are you addressing the talent challenge that plagues most ad agencies, especially with technology becoming the centre piece for all manner of businesses?
I actually disagree with this narrative that the industry cannot find the right talent. India has great young talent. The question agencies need to ask themselves is: are they making themselves worthy of that talent? One of the things that I've learned from the Gen Z talent in our own agency is that this generation is more purpose-driven than previous generations. While pay, growth prospects and exciting work are all important to them, they want their work to have meaning.

They want to know the company's vision, values and purpose. The industry often overlooks this when it speaks about 24-year-olds. We have been able to attract and retain talent here by working to share, co-opt and co-create a purpose and a vision that works for everybody. We have a vast cross-section of talent working with us from diverse backgrounds, including lawyers and even dentists! Technology has lifted the door for people from all backgrounds to express creativity. Anyone from anywhere can make a career in creativity today.

How SEO strategies need to adapt to new search behaviours

NEERAJ SANCHETI

NOT LONG AGO, SEO was a straightforward game: find the right keywords, publish optimised content, build backlinks, and climb the ranks. Land in the top three, and the traffic rolled in. Simple. Celebratory.

AI has rewritten the rules. Search behaviour has changed. The internet is flooded with AI written content. Traditional SEO strategy is failing big time with organic traffic down by 15-25% as per a recent survey by Bain. Most CMOs are still grappling with how to adapt their SEO strategies to today's fragmented search behaviour.

Google still commands a little less than 90% of global search traffic. But it's no longer the only gatekeeper. ChatGPT is clocking nearly 122.6 million daily active users as of May 2025, and it's growing every month. Other platforms like Gemini, Perplexity and Claude are catching up fast.

SEO success in the AI era hinges not on volume, but on value. It is now contextual and situational. It is no longer linear

Meanwhile, Google's AI overviews, a feature that answers directly on the search result page, is eating up search traffic. According to SEMRush, 13.14% of all search queries triggered AI overviews as of March 2025, twice of what it was in January. More than 88% of queries that serve AI overviews are informational in nature.

Fragmentation of search is coupled with a massive surge in AI-generated content. As per Forbes Advisor, 42% of businesses are generating long-form content using AI tools. AI that is capable of paraphrasing the same content for different users. Google confirms that repackaged, paraphrased content that says the same thing in slightly different words will not help in ranking. Google has only one true north: the end user. If the content doesn't offer relevance, originality, or depth, it won't just be ignored, it will be penalised.

AI doesn't scroll your website like a human, it breaks it down, scans for patterns, and picks up only what's clear and well-organised. Tools like ChatGPT, Gemini, and Google's AI Overviews don't care if you've crammed in keywords or used fancy code.

Here is what they immensely value: Structured authority, entity ownership, knowledge architecture, and citation magnets.

Gen AI is a work in progress, and will be this way for the next few years. While AI speeds things up, it's the human touch: original, authoritative, and intentional, that will build trust. SEO success in the AI-era hinges not on volume, but on value. SEO is now contextual and situational. It is no longer linear. Neither should your SEO strategy be.

Embrace slow marketing that prioritises intent over impressions; value over volume; and recognition over rankings. Build trust. Build your own niche. Value authenticity. Be everywhere.

That's the strategy you need for new search behaviours and AI-driven content creation.

Campaign emphasises accessibility and inclusion

ON THE SPOT

Why the campaign rocks:

Samsung's "Hearing Hands" campaign represents an extraordinary blend of empathy, innovation, and community involvement. This campaign went beyond the traditional advertising model by genuinely impacting people's lives and demonstrating how technology can meaningfully bridge communication gaps. In Istanbul, Samsung collaborated with an entire neighborhood, training them in sign language to create a memorable day for Muharrem, a hearing-impaired resident. The neighborhood's genuine effort and Muharrem's heartfelt reactions were authentically captured, emphasising the power of empathy and human connection over mere product promotion.

This campaign resonated deeply with me because it effectively showcased technology's potential for social good. Rather than merely highlighting technical features or gadgets, Samsung emphasised accessibility and inclusion. It empowered a marginalised community and raised global awareness about the daily challenges faced by people with disabilities. Samsung reminded audiences worldwide that true innovation lies in technology's ability to uplift human lives.

INDIAN ECONOMY

Clouds lifting, or just shifting?

A report by HSBC says the fiscal projections backing the S&P ratings upgrade will depend on how GST rate cuts are funded, which in turn will hinge on India's growth prospects amid elevated tariffs

₹1.43 Lcr
ESTIMATED COST TO THE EXCHEQUER DUE TOPOTENTIAL GST CUTS

A 25% TARIFF COULD LOWER GROWTH DIRECTLY BY 0.3 PPT OVER A YEAR, AND WITH A 50% TARIFF, THE GROWTH DRAG COULD RISE TO 0.7 PPT

6.8%
GDP GROWTH RATE OVER NEXT THREE YEARS AS PER S&P PROJECTIONS

S&P upgrade: What impressed the agency?

AFTER REVISING INDIA'S outlook to positive last year, S&P Global Ratings upgraded India's sovereign credit rating to BBB from BBB- on August 14. This move may not just boost sentiment, but also help lower the risk premia and borrowings costs in the economy.

This upgrading was based on two key projections. That GDP growth will average 6.8% over the next three years. In addition, the consolidated fiscal deficit will fall further from 7.3% of GDP in FY26 to 6.6% by FY29, marking a 0.7 percentage point (ppt) consolidation in three years. These, together, will help lower public debt (from above to below 80% of GDP).

While there is no immediate threat of the ratings upgrade being reversed if the projections do not materialise, for the sustainability of current ratings and future upgrades, it is worth asking what it will take for S&P's projections to be correct. Here we pass on the baton to the GST tax rate cuts, for that could affect S&P's desire for 0.7ppt fiscal consolidation over three years.

Efficiency gains from GST rate cuts

ON AUGUST 15, Prime Minister Narendra Modi announced a rehaul of the GST tax regime. This slashes rates across a range of products, by moving a majority of the items in the 12% and 28% slabs to the 5% and 18% slabs, respectively. In addition, collapsing a system of four key GST rates (5%, 12%, 18%, and 28%) into two main rates (5% and 18%) alongside a special rate (of 40% for about seven sin goods and luxury vehicles). The compensation cess is also likely to be subsumed by the 40% special rate. This promises to bring two benefits. Immediate tax cuts could spur demand across products – food, beverages, consumer durables, auto, hotels, cement, building materials, etc. And over time, efficiency gains of moving to a simpler and more predictable tax regime with fewer rates could raise India's potential GDP growth over time (though some would say that there is more that can be done on GST reforms, for instance, bringing in petroleum and electricity in the GST fold).

GST cut & cost to the exchequer

AS SOME PRODUCTS are moved to lower tax buckets, the cost to the exchequer will be around $16 billion (₹1.43 lakh crore or 0.4% of GDP). This could be split between the central and state governments but the latter may not agree to the revenue hit. If the Centre comes up with a compensation plan, the funds would have to be made available. If these funds are generated by a GST tax hike in, say, some luxury goods, that would go against the efficiency principles of having fewer GST rates. The GDP growth boost from efficiency gains could then be compromised. And the expectation of high tax revenue growth on the back of stronger GDP growth prospects may not materialise. Losing some efficiency and growth gains temporarily may be a price worth paying for a long-term reform. But that will be easier to digest if the overall outlook for growth in the short term is buoyant.

Will the tariff rates stick?

THE 25% + 25% tariff rates imposed by the US on India's exports have dimmed some of the growth prospects. A 25% tariff could lower growth directly by 0.3ppt over a year, and with a 50% tariff, the growth drag could rise to 0.7ppt. The second round and indirect impact of the elevated tariffs could be meaningful, if not more hurtful. FDI inflows and corporate capex (at about 12% of GDP) could take a hit if India's exporting potential comes in question.

So will these tariff rates stick? On the oil penalty, much depends on the peace talks. US President Donald Trump has urged Russian Premier Vladimir Putin to plan a summit with Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy within the next two weeks. On the reciprocal tariffs, much depends on the trade talks between India and the US. India has removed import tariffs on cotton imports, a step that could create fresh room for negotiations.

Start of growth-enhancing reforms?

TO SUM IT up, if tariffs are lowered, the GDP growth drag may soften. If the growth outlook improves, it may be easier to digest the disruptions from funding the GST rate cuts. If fiscal discipline is maintained despite GST rate cuts, the projections on which India got a ratings upgrade, will be upheld.

We don't know yet whether the clouds are lifting, or just shifting. Meanwhile, India should firm up a growth plan, ranging from fiscal support (incentives for exporters), monetary easing (there's room for more rate cuts), to structural reforms. Now is the time to press ahead with trade negotiations (slashing import tariffs on intermediary inputs, fast-tracking the India-EU trade deal, and being open to FDI especially from China), plus domestic reforms (more ease-of-doing business deregulation across states, implementing the labour codes, and stepping up disinvestment). It will benefit the economy immensely if this is a start of a string of growth-enhancing reforms.

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, August 19

FORMER SUPREME COURT judge B Sudershan Reddy is the joint candidate of the Opposition for the vice-presidential polls, Congress President Mallikarjun Kharge announced on Tuesday, as he called the September 9 election for the country's second-highest office an "ideological battle."

Reddy, the first Lokayukta of Goa, reached the national capital this evening and was accorded a warm welcome by opposition MPs at the airport. He later met with various opposition leaders. Reddy, who is also on the Board of Trustees of the International Arbitration and Mediation Centre in Hyderabad, will file his nomination on August 21.

The joint opposition would hold a meeting in the central hall of Samvidhan Sadan on Wednesday afternoon.

"All opposition parties have decided to have a common candidate; the decision has been taken unanimously," Kharge said.

Stable India-China ties will contribute to global peace: PM

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, August 19

PRIME MINISTER NARENDRA Modi on Tuesday underlined the importance of maintaining peace and tranquillity along the frontier with China, and reiterated India's commitment to a fair, reasonable and mutually-acceptable resolution to the boundary question as he met Chinese foreign minister Wang Yi.

Modi said stable, predictable and constructive ties between India and China will contribute significantly to regional as well as global peace and that he is looking forward to meeting Chinese President Xi Jinping on the margins of the upcoming summit of the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) in the Chinese city of Tianjin. Wang, who landed in Delhi on Monday on a two-day visit, handed over a message and an invitation to the SCO Summit from Xi to Modi.

In a social media post after his meeting with the Chinese foreign minister, Modi said the India-China relations have made steady progress, guided by respect for each other's interests and sensitivities, since his talks with Xi around 10 months back.

Two days after India and China agreed to end the eastern Ladakh face-off, Modi and Xi met in the Russian city of Kazan in October last year and agreed to revive several mechanisms to normalise the bilateral relations and address the border dispute.

Wang's visit is largely seen as part of the ongoing efforts of the two neighbours to rebuild their relationship after it came under severe strain following the deadly Galwan valley clashes in 2020. "Glad to meet Foreign Minister Wang Yi. Since my meeting with President Xi in Kazan last year, India-China relations have made steady progress," Modi posted on X.

China attaches great importance to Modi's SCO visit, says Wang

CHINA ATTACHES GREAT importance to Prime Minister Narendra Modi's planned visit to attend the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) summit and looks forward to India's active contribution to its success, foreign minister Wang Yi said on Tuesday.

Wang, who reached New Delhi on Monday, said this in his opening statement at the 24th round of border talks with NSA Ajit Doval in Delhi.

His visit comes ahead of Prime Minister Modi's planned trip to China to attend the annual SCO summit to be held in Tianjin on Aug 31 and September 1.

HEAVY DOWNPOUR FLOODS MUMBAI

People wade through a flooded road following heavy rainfall at Kurla West, in Mumbai on Tuesday ANI

No objections filed by parties: EC

DAMINI NATH, SANTOSH SINGH & ASAD REHMAN
Darbhanga/Ara/Aurangabad, August 19

IN ITS DAILY statements since August 1, the Election Commission of India has been maintaining that none of the 1.6 lakh booth-level agents (BLAs) appointed by political parties have filed any claims and objections to the draft electoral roll that was recently published as part of Bihar's ongoing Special Intensive Revision (SIR).

Yet, on the ground, the BLAs — political workers meant to be the party's eyes and ears on the ground at the Assembly constituency and booth-level — say they have been actively raising objections: from alleged duplication of voters to 'fake voters' and those whose names were allegedly mistakenly deleted or declared dead.

It has been learnt from the BJP's agents in Darbhanga, who were confident that the "mool niwasi" won't be left out, to Ara in Bhojpur, where BLAs of the CPI (ML)-L say they have flagged nine cases of voters being inaccurately declared dead on the draft rolls, to a booth in Aurangabad, where the BLA says he is going door-to-door alerting the 122 voters who have been deleted from the draft roll and helping them with documents.

While EC rules say the objections have to submitted in the prescribed format — Form 6 for additions, Form 7 for deletions – along with a declaration, BLAs say that while they have brought the alleged inaccuracies to the notice of the authorities, it's for the EC to take action.

Officials said that BLAs don't usually submit claims and objections in the format prescribed since they are required to present the evidence on oath. Incidentally, this is the same rule that Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar cited on Sunday when asking Leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi to give an affidavit for his allegations of voter fraud in Karnataka.

In a booth in Darbhanga's Bahadurpur Assembly constituency, BLA Krishna Bhagwan Jha says he is yet to see the draft electoral roll published on August 1, but is not worried about genuine voters being left out of the rolls.

According to EC data, out of the 160,000 BLAs, the BJP has the highest number (53,338), but even that does not cover all of the 90,712 booths in the state.

High seas and higher tariffs

Seafood units, aqua farms struggle to stay afloat

NARAYANAN V
Kochi, August 19

IT'S 7 A.M. on Vypin Island, just off the Kochi coast. The sea breeze still carries a morning chill, but inside the Kalamukku fishing harbour, the bustle is relentless. Crates of cuttlefish, threadfin bream, whiteleg shrimp, and baby octopus—stacked in blue and orange—are rushed onto waiting trucks. In a nearby thatched office, fishermen in sweat-soaked T-shirts queue for their wages after 10 gruelling days at sea. The atmosphere inside is anything but calm.

"This is what we get after struggling in the sea for 10 days," says 54-year-old Iruthayarajan, holding out ₹5,000 he has just been paid. Among the fisherfolk since the tender age of 12, he now runs a small mechanised boat. "How can one manage a family of four with this?" Iruthayarajan asks.

Iruthayarajan complains that exporters are buying his catch at throwaway prices, even during July-September, the post-monsoon peak season. What he doesn't know is that a tariff tsunami, half a world away in the US, has begun to shake India's $7.38-billion seafood industry—threatening nearly 28 million livelihoods, from aquaculture farmers in Andhra Pradesh to seafood processors and exporters in Kerala, including small-scale fishermen like him.

India's seafood sector has been caught off guard by Washington's decision to double import duties on Indian shipments to 50%. The US, which accounts for 35% of India's seafood exports at $2.8 billion in FY25, had already imposed a 25% levy. When the new duties kick in on August 27, the move could wipe out nearly ₹24,000 crore worth of trade.

"We already have an anti-dumping duty of about 10% on shrimp exports to the US. With these new tariffs and penalties, that will climb to around 60% for shrimp and 50% for other seafood exports," says Abraham John Tharakan, chairman of Kochi-based Amalgam Group of Companies, seafood exporters and aqua feed producers.

A veteran of the industry, Tharakan recalls how India painstakingly built its position in the US market, moving from raw suppliers to processors selling value-added shrimp under the own-brand labels of American retail giants. "We are producing about a million tonne of aquaculture shrimp today," he says. "But Ecuador has already overtaken us—they're producing almost 1.5 million tonne now."

The south American country, India's closest competitor, now enjoys a sharp edge with just a 10% duty in the US market. Competitors like Indonesia and Vietnam face tariffs of 19% and 20% respectively.

Shrimp remains India's single-largest seafood export, led by the Vannamei variety, with Andhra Pradesh alone contributing 60% of total shipments. With the new tariff, shrimp farmers there are reeling, and the ripple effect is spreading nationwide. Frozen fish, cuttlefish, squid, dried seafood, and live or chilled items—worth nearly ₹7,000 crore annually from Kerala alone—are also caught in the net.

TARIFF TREMORS GROUND IMPACT-III

The uncertainty is already choking the trade. "US buyers have asked us to hold all current orders," says Alex K Ninan, vice-president of the Seafood Exporters Association of India (SEAI). "That means a huge pile-up in warehouses. We're looking at alternate markets like the EU, Japan, and China, but even they are asking us to wait, expecting a price crash."

China is India's second-largest seafood destination, with a 19% share in terms of export value in US$, followed by Japan at 5.4%. The Indian government has urged exporters to "bravely face" the challenge by diversifying into new destinations and boosting domestic sales.

SEAI secretary general KN Raghavan says the recently concluded free trade agreement with the UK could open opportunities next year, while a bilateral pact with the EU may ease tariff and non-tariff barriers. "New markets like Norway, Sweden, and Switzerland could follow," he says. "But nothing can immediately replace a $2.8-billion market. That will take time."

On the home front too, limits remain. India is largely a meat-eating country, with fish consumption concentrated in coastal states. "There is also a cultural issue—Indians prefer fresh food," Raghavan says. "Frozen products are still alien here. They can be introduced through restaurants, especially high-end chains, but it will take time. And even then, the value will be lower."

Nearly 90–95% of India's shrimp exports are farmed varieties such as Vannamei and Black Tiger, while sea-caught shrimp make up only 5–10%. But since Indian trawlers generally do not use Turtle Excluder Devices (TEDs), most sea-caught shrimp is barred from the US.

The benchmark ex-farm price for 40-count shrimp was about ₹350 per kg, briefly touching ₹450 as exporters rushed to ship before the first tariff deadline of August 1. But prices have since plunged below ₹300, and in some cases ₹250, with a few takers.

"It's mainly the large shrimp cultivators in Andhra Pradesh and exporters dependent on the US who are hurting," says Shaji Baby John, CMD of Kings Infra Ventures, an integrated aquaculture company focused on China, Vietnam, Japan, and the Middle East. For him, the tariff is "a blessing in disguise." US exporters, he says, have long dictated farm-gate prices. "Now those players have exited procurement completely. Usually, at this time of year, prices shoot up because of a shortage. This year, they've collapsed."

Even at a 50% duty, some US buyers are still willing to source from India, at least for now. That's because of the sheer scale and quality of the brands, which cannot be replaced from shelves overnight. "Over the years, we have set up some of most-advanced factories and grown skilled-manpower, which can't be replaced by Ecuador," Tharakan says.

Exporters pay duties upfront before shipping and with higher tariffs, financing has become a nightmare. "If I ship goods worth ?1 crore, I need an additional ₹50 lakh as working capital to pay the 50% duty, and the proceeds are realised only after two to three months," Tharakan explains. "If I ship ₹10 crore a month, I need an extra ₹5 crore locked up in rotation purely for the additional tariff. "My working capital is broken just because of this."

"The entire industry has come to a standstill," Ninan adds. "Since the US market is gone, banks are threatening to realise bills from shipments to other countries. If they do that, how do we pay salaries or keep cold storage running 24x7 with all this inventory?"

Raghavan says the industry is staring at a severe cash crunch and has urged the government to step in with at least 30% ad hoc working capital support. "We also need interest subvention as was done during the Covid period and a moratorium on loan repayment for up to 240 days. That will give the industry some breathing space to find new markets and build a strategy for value-added products."

Joseph Xavier Kalapurackal, vice-chairman of the Kerala Matsya Mekhala Samrakshana Samiti—a forum for the protection of the fisheries sector—explains that the cost of a fishing trip is typically shared 60% by fishermen and 40% by labourers. Only if the catch is worth more than ₹5 lakh, a fisherman does make a profit. "Those who venture into the high seas face all the risks, yet they are the ones who lose the most," he adds.

ABHIJIT KISHORE, CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER, VODAFONE IDEA

From workout discipline to corporate stamina

THE DELHI UNIVERSITY ALUMNUS WILL NEED MORE THAN MUSCLE MEMORY TO TACKLE THE CHALLENGES FACING VI

URVI MALVANIA

NEWS POINT

FOR VODAFONE IDEA'S new chief executive Abhijit Kishore, working out is more than a habit; it's a way of life. Staying fit is not just about maintaining a healthy weight — it's about keeping the energy level high for the corporate grind. He shed 30 kg through exercise and intermittent fasting, and credits discipline and tenacity for the ability to keep up with a tough work schedule and relentless travel. As he takes over the corner office at Vodafone Idea (Vi), those qualities will be tested in the boardroom and in the marketplace, where he is expected to run a marathon at sprint pace.

Incorporating speed work into marathon running might sound counter-intuitive, but that's exactly the challenge ahead of Kishore who has about 27 years of telecom experience behind him.

He assumes charge of India's third-largest telco at a time when it is weighed down by nearly ₹2 lakh crore in government dues, has been starved of fresh funding, and is losing ground to rivals Airtel and Reliance Jio on both 4G and 5G rollout. The firm's balance sheet remains under siege. While its bank debt has reduced sharply, massive AGR (adjusted gross revenue) and spectrum dues have resurfaced in FY26, just when the company is playing catch up in the 5G race.

Against this backdrop, Kishore's elevation — he served as chief operating officer of the company from March 2015 until August 18 — signals the board's bet on continuity amid the corporate's long battle for survival.

An alumnus of Delhi University and FORE School of Management, Delhi, Kishore remains optimistic. During the telco's Q1 earnings call, he shared his confidence about leveraging technology to capture the vast enterprise opportunity in the country. For him, technology is meaningful only when it solves customer problems. "Whether it is 4G, 5G or 6G, at the end of the day, what matters is how these platforms connect Indians and help them access banking, entertainment or even climate information," he had said at the India Mobile Congress 2024.

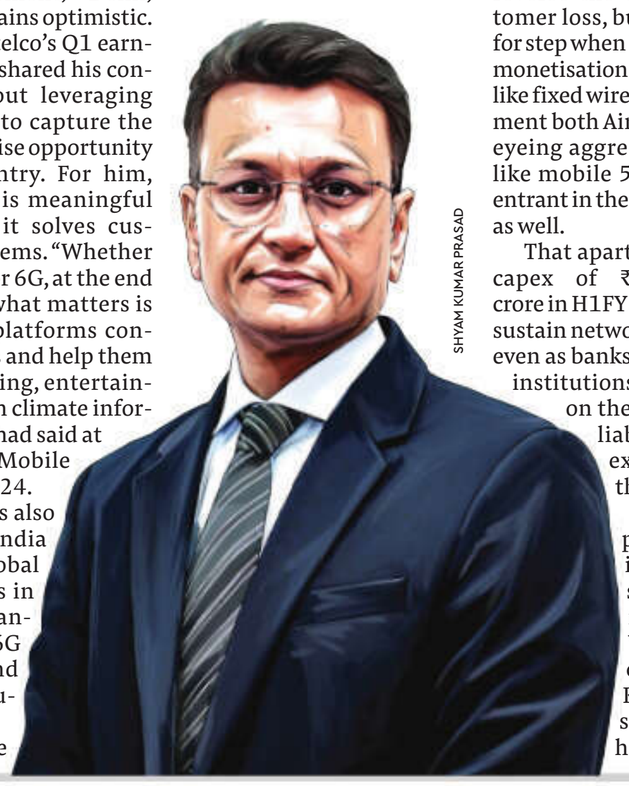

Kishore is also bullish on India setting global benchmarks in telecom standards, with 6G research and local manufacturing high on the agenda. He views Generative AI as something more as a necessity than corporate bombast — a tool that can eliminate repetitive tasks and sharpen customer service. Noting that AI is here to stay, he says the trick will be to figure out how it can be deployed to solve customer problems.

But getting Vi back on track will require more than technology prowess or muscle memory.

While 4G expansion and 5G launch have helped the brand stem customer churn to an extent and increase data consumption on its network, the road to stability is winding. Securing funding to the tune of ₹25,000 crore is paramount to Vi's operational viability if it hopes to revive its status as a challenger to Airtel and Jio, both of which are miles ahead on key financial and operational metrics. To compete meaningfully, the operator needs to not only reverse the trend of customer loss, but match step for step when it comes to 5G monetisation opportunities like fixed wires access, a segment both Airtel and Jio are eyeing aggressively. Much like mobile 5G, Vi is a late entrant in the 5G FWA space as well.

That apart, Vi's planned capex of ₹5,000-6,000 crore in H1FY26 is crucial to sustain network expansion, even as banks and financial institutions await clarity on the massive AGR liability before extending further loans.

Raising the planned funding and persuading wary investors of Vi's viability could be Kishore's steepest climb here on.

E-comm, tech startups to lead fresher hiring: Report

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Mumbai, August 19

DEMAND RISES FOR YOUNG TALENT

- Retail (87%) & manufacturing (82%) follow closely behind startups, reflecting broad demand for young talent
- Rise in degree apprenticeship programmes underscores demand for practical, skill-based learning pathways

- TeamLease EdTech report is based on inputs from 1,065 employers across sectors between May & July
- Opportunities for freshers remained robust in high-growth sectors
- Bengaluru, Chennai and Pune at the forefront of apprenticeship hiring intent

E-COMMERCE AND TECHNOLOGY startups are expected to lead fresher hiring in India in the second half of 2025, with 88% of employers showing intent to recruit, a report said on Tuesday.

The report titled 'Career Outlook Report (HY2 2025)' by TeamLease EdTech said there is a strong job market for freshers, with retail (87%) and manufacturing (82%) following closely behind startups, which reflects broad demand for young talent across sectors.

"The strong hiring intent in e-commerce & Technology startups reflects the dynamic growth in this sector, creating exciting opportunities for freshers.

"As industries evolve with technology, freshers who blend technical expertise with adaptability and human skills will find themselves well-positioned. The rise in degree apprenticeship programmes further underscores the demand for practical, skill-based learning pathways," TeamLease EdTech founder and CEO Shantanu Rooj said.

The Career Outlook Report (HY2 2025) by TeamLease EdTech is based on inputs from 1,065 employers across sectors during May and July.

The report further revealed that the overall fresher hiring intent has slightly softened to 70% for July-December 2025, from 74% during January-June 2025, following AI-led workforce restructuring, global trade uncertainties, and a strategic focus on retaining experienced talent in core industries.

However, opportunities for freshers remained robust in high-growth sectors, it added.

Meanwhile, the report noted a steady rise in demand for degree apprentices, with manufacturing (37%), engineering and infrastructure (29%), and information technology (18%) leading the way.

InvITs, REITs had $94-bn AUM in FY25: Knight Frank

TOTAL ASSETS UNDER management of infrastructure investment trusts (InvITs) and real estate investment trusts (REITs) have grown to nearly $94 billion in the last fiscal, from $42.1 billion in 2019-20, according to Knight Frank.

Total assets under management (AUM) of InvITs in India have reached $73.3 billion in 2024-25 while the AUM of REITs touched $20.6 billion.

"Combined AUM of REITs and InvITS have grown to $93.9 billion in FY25, from $42.1 billion in FY20," the report said. The combined market cap stood at $33.2 billion as on July 31, 2025.

The consultant said InvITs are set to play an increasingly important role in financing the country's infrastructure ambitions. It projected that the AUM of InvIT has potential to reach $258 billion by 2030.

This growth is expected to be driven by higher allocations from institutional investors, increased participation of domestic pension and insurance funds, expanded foreign investment, and rising awareness among retail investors, it added. –PTI

These projects are partly funded by the Central Government under schemes like the Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation ("AMRUT") and the Jal Jeevan Mission ("JJM") along with contribution from states or ULBs under their respective schemes. 4. We are heavily dependent on government or government-funded entities for our business, which exposes us to various risks, including regulatory scrutiny, delays in receivables, project execution risks, and policy-related uncertainties.
5. Our failure to successfully implement our expansion plan to other parts of South India could adversely affect our business and results of operations.
6. Our ongoing projects are exposed to various implementation risks and uncertainties and may be delayed, modified or cancelled for reasons beyond our control, which may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operation.
7. Our Order Book may not be representative of our future results and our actual income may be significantly less than the estimates reflected in our Order Book, which could adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects.

RISKS TO INVESTORS:

(For details, refer to section titled "Risk Factors" on page 34 of the Prospectus)

1. Pending Litigation Risk: One of our Promoters, Anil Kishorepuria, is a party to a legal proceeding for alleged violation of Indian Penal Code and the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988. Any adverse order in this proceeding could have a material impact on our reputation and business operations. The matter pertains to an alleged fraudulent scheme involving preferential allotment of equity shares of Padmini Technologies Limited in May / June 1999 to various allottees, including Anil Kishorepuria without consideration. Any adverse order in this proceeding may have a material impact on the reputation of our Company and its business operations.
2. Vendor Concentration Risk: Purchase of maize from our top 10 vendors constituted 94.53%, 93.70% and 83.43% of our total cost of purchase of maize, in Fiscal 2025, Fiscal 2024 and Fiscal 2023, respectively. We typically do not enter into long-term contracts or arrangements with such vendors. Our inability to maintain our relationship with our existing top 10 vendors of maize and/or failure to procure maize from vendors and suppliers on favourable terms may have an adverse effect on our revenue, results of operation and would have an impact on our financial condition. Further, our margins and profitability may be adversely affected if, and to the extent, we are unable to pass on the price escalation in our input materials to our customers.
3. Promoter Group Member Non- Disclosure Risk: SEBI has rejected the Exemption Application dated September 18, 2024, which was filed by our Company under Regulation 300(1)(c) of the SEBI ICDR Regulations, requesting for relaxation of the applicable provisions with respect to identifying and disclosing certain Related Individuals and Connected Persons. Given that the disclosures relating to them are solely based on the information which was available and accessible in the public domain, our Company has not ascertained the veracity or completeness of the information or if such information is updated. Since the Related Individuals and Connected Persons have expressed their unwillingness to be named as a member of the Promoter Group in the Draft Red Herring Prospectus, Red Herring Prospectus, and the Prospectus and any other document in relation to the Offer and to provide the necessary information and confirmation sought, our Company has not been able to ascertain any other entity forming part of the Connected Persons which would qualify as a member of our Promoter Group.
4. Past SEBI order against one of our Promoters and certain members of our Promoter Group: One of our Promoters i.e., Anil Kishorepuria and certain members of our Promoter Group were restrained from associating with capital market related activities, and from accessing the capital markets for a period of 5 years from the date of SEBI Order dated March 31, 2007. The SEBI Order was based on certain findings against the persons, for participating in market manipulation and acting as a conduit for offloading shares of the entity Padmini Technologies Ltd. to manipulate share prices. The SAT dismissed the separate appeals by our Company Related Entities by a common order dated October 17, 2007. wherein the penalty was reduced to 'period already undergone'. Currently, there is no prohibition or bar on the Company Related Entities from associating with capital market related activities and from accessing the capital market.
5. Outstanding Legal Proceedings Risk: There are certain legal proceedings involving our Company, Promoters, and certain of our Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and members of Senior Management that are currently pending at different levels of adjudication before various courts and tribunals. Our Company may be required to devote management and financial resources in the defence or prosecution of such legal proceedings. There can be no assurance that the provisions we have made for litigation will be sufficient or that further litigation will not be brought against us in the future. Decisions in such proceedings adverse to our interests may have a material adverse effect on our business, cash flows, financial condition, and results of operations. Further, we cannot assure that similar proceedings will not be initiated in the future. This could adversely affect our business, cash flows, financial condition, and results of operation.
6. Dependency on Manufacturing Facility: We are a manufacturing company and operate from one zero liquid discharge maize milling plant at Kishanganj, Bihar. Our manufacturing operations are exposed to operating risks such as failure of equipment, power supply interruptions, labour disputes, natural disasters and industrial accidents. We cannot assure that one or more of the factors mentioned above will not occur, which could have a material adverse effect on our Company's results of operations and financial condition. Further, any shortage or non-availability of essential utilities such as water and electricity etc. may result in temporary shut-down of a part, or all, of our operations which may have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.
7. Statutory Non-Compliance Risk: There have been certain instances of non-compliance of certain provisions of Companies Act, in relation to certain corporate actions taken by our Company in the past. Further, there have been delays in filing certain statutory forms with ROC in the past. Our Company has, therefore made 14 suo motu adjudication applications before the RoC for adjudicating the penalties for the non-compliances. These applications are currently pending before the RoC. While no disputes or regulatory actions have arisen in connection with these filings till date, we cannot assure that no such actions will be initiated in the future.
8. Negative net cash flow risk: We have incurred negative net cash flows from operating activities of ₹ 112.01 million and ₹ 225.14 million in Fiscals 2025 and 2024, respectively. While these negative net cash flows are for certain periods, we cannot assure that such negative net cash flows will not be incurred by our Company in the future. Any such negative net cash flows in future, if any, may adversely impact our operations, financial condition and the trading price of the Equity Shares.
9. Matter of Emphasis in Restated Financial Information: While our Statutory Auditor has added an 'emphasis on matters' for the period Fiscal 2023 in our Restated Financial Information, there is no impact on our financial statements. Our Company has made suo moto application before the RoC for adjudicating the penalties for the non-compliance. The application is currently pending before the RoC.
10. Lease Renewal Risk: Our Company does not own the premises on which our Registered Office, corporate office, warehouses and office premises are situated. We cannot assure that the lease/ license/ rent agreements will be renewed upon termination or that we will be able to obtain other premises on lease on the same or similar commercial terms. Identification of a new location to house our operations and relocating our business to new premises may involve us incurring additional expenditure. Any inability on our part to timely identify a suitable location for a relocated office could have an adverse impact on our business.
11. Weighted Average Return on Net Worth for Fiscal 2025, Fiscal 2024 and Fiscal 2023 based on Restated Financial Information is 18.63%.
